DEFENDANTS IN LIQUOR CASES DISMISSED BY COMMISSIONER

Lowell Attorney Charges Collusion Between State and Federal Officers—Court Finds Insufficient Evidence of Traffic in Haverhill Cases

The question of collusion between state and federal liquor law enforcement officers was raised at hearings held this morning before United States Commissioner Richard B. Walsh at the Haverhill street court house, during the discussion of charges of illegal possession against Stanislaw Popolski and Konstanty Mazankus, both of Haverhill.

Attorney John J. Flaherty, of this city, appearing for both defendants, brought out that no charges had been lodged in the lower court at Haverhill against either man and alleged this was because of the lack of sufficient evidence gained under a state search warrant. He said further that collusion between state and federal officers had resulted in the appearance of the defendants before the commissioner where they sought to obtain a finding of probable cause, although they had insufficient evidence under a state search warrant.

Commissioner Walsh discharged both defendants on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

MANY REASONS TO BE CHEERFUL SAYS PRES. FARRELL OF STEEL CORP.

Indications Point to Recovery From Unjustifiable Depression He Tells National Foreign Trade Council—Plans for Promoting Trade With Other Countries

BOSTON, June 4.—Many angles of the problem of promoting trade with other countries will be considered at the 11th foreign trade convention of the national foreign trade council opening in this city today.

After greetings from Governor Cox and Mayor Curley, the first day's program called for addresses by the chairman of the council, James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation; Walter E. Wyman, of Cambridge and Howard Connelley, president of the Boston chamber of commerce.

Group sessions were planned for the remainder of the day at which the speakers included Henry Howard of the Cleveland chamber of commerce, and Eugene Van Cleaf, chairman of the foreign trade division of the college of commerce and journalism, of the Ohio state university.

Promotion of the American Mercantile marine, a general policy for foreign trade, banking facilities, foreign trade advertising and credits and various export and import problems will be discussed at the convention.

Head of Steel Corp. Talks

There are many reasons "why we should be cheerful rather than depressed," said James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, in his address to the national foreign trade council today.

TO FORM NEW FRENCH CABINET

Pres. Millerand Summons Paul Painleve to Elysee Palace for Consultation

Millerand Determined To Remain in Office Under Any Circumstances

PARIS, June 4.—(By the Associated Press)—President Millerand summoned Paul Painleve, former premier and newly-elected president of the chamber of deputies, to the Elysee palace, today for a consultation in regard to the formation of a new cabinet to succeed the outgoing cabinet headed by Raymond Poincare.

Millerand Refuses to Yield

PARIS, June 4.—(By the Associated Press)—President Millerand made known to his friends today that he was determined to remain in office under any circumstances unless there should be a majority vote in both the senate and chamber of deputies asking him to retire. Furthermore, this vote must be in open session with the vote of each senator and deputy recorded.

The president is described by those closest to him as being convinced from his inquiries that the majority of the senate is for him, and will refuse to associate itself with the action of the majority in the chamber.

The president is by nature combative and, although he does not cling to the presidency, has told his friends that he will not retire simply because the majority in one house is opposed to him.

LAWRENCE MAN INJURED Charles Battershill at Hospital as Result of Accident

Was Thrown From Auto to Car Tracks When Machines Crash

Charles Battershill, of 232 Ames street, Lawrence, one of the proprietors of the Lawrence Drug Co., is at St. John's hospital suffering from numerous lacerations as the result of an automobile collision with a New Hampshire machine driven by Miss Mary Simpson on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard, near Brookside turn-off, about 10 o'clock this morning.

Hospital authorities this noon stated that his injuries do not appear to be serious.

Witnesses of the accident regard Mr. Battershill's narrow escape from more serious consequences as miraculous. He was knocked from the driver's seat to the electric car tracks by the impact and his machine was badly damaged. The front seat was torn from its position and the rear end of the car was badly demolished, one wheel being ripped off.

Miss Simpson's car, a Cadillac coach, suffered a broken front mudguard and broken headlights. The woman, however, escaped with a severe shaking up.

The collision occurred on the railroad track near Hemlock street in the Belle Grove section of Dracut.

According to Motor Officer Leonard Linton, who made a hurried trip to the scene and investigated the accident, the Lawrence man's machine, a Hudson coach, was proceeding in the direction of Lowell. At Brookside turn-off another machine was parked in the road, and Battershill attempted to pass it as the New Hampshire car, Lawrence-bound, came along. Neither driver was able to apply the brakes in time to avoid contact and the two powerful machines came together.

CALL FOR LEGAL ADVICE ON VETERANS' PAY

The budget and auditing commission this noon brought the office of the city solicitor into the veterans' payroll imbroglio as was anticipated yesterday. When the board met today the payroll of the board of health was submitted. This called for a full week's pay for each of the seven veterans who paraded Memorial day with their dead. The payroll for the street department, approved by Chairman Dennis J. Murphy, docks the men of the ashes and waste department who elected to observe the day set apart for annual tribute to those who have gone beyond.

The commission decided to ask the city solicitor for an opinion as to the legality of the distinct attitudes of the two departments. As the city solicitor was engaged in the sub rosa conference with city company officials, the commission was unable to reach him. The clerk in his office was informed of the board's desire to confer with the solicitor and promised to endeavor to locate him.

The amount involved in the ashes and waste department is said to be less than $100. Messrs. Meloy and Henry of the public service board said yesterday that Mr. Reynolds, the city solicitor, had told them that the men who did not work could not be paid. He drew the distinction, they said, between a salaried member such as the mayor, who marched with the vets, and a wage earner such as the men in the ashes and waste department.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, millionaires' sons, admitted kidnapers and slayers of Robert Franks, schoolboy son of wealthy Jacob Franks, have signed no confessions of guilt. It became known today, and the state, which has asked the grand jury for murder indictments, must rely on testimony of witnesses who heard their statements.

Double guards have been placed to watch the county jail cells of the pair day and night until they are tried. Fearful that either may attempt to

SLAIN FRANKS BOY OPPOSED CAPITAL PUNISHMENT IN DEBATE

CHICAGO, June 4.—Robert Franks, kidnapped and slain schoolboy on whose account the state is seeking indictments against two minors on two charges punishable by death, two weeks before his death debated against capital punishment. His team upheld the negative victory against a team, including his brother, Jack, in a school debate on "Resolved, that capital punishment is justified."

"Would it not better serve the community," he asked, "to put weak and mentally depraved criminals in institutions, where, removed from society, they would no longer be a menace? Punishment should be reformatory, never vindictive."

He carried out previously expressed intentions, all food taken to them is rigidly inspected and jail employees have been cautioned to prevent smuggling to them of any means for self-destruction. The precautions were taken after a conference of jail officials with state attorneys when the grand jury

HIGH SCHOOLS MEET AT ALUMNI FIELD

The game scheduled for next Saturday between Lowell and Manchester will be Friday instead as the Massanutta high school track and field meet is down on the card for Saturday, as well as the New Hampshire state meet.

Warrants Issued For Arrest of Bedford Couple in Connection With Big Raid

Federal warrants were issued today by U. S. Commissioner Richard B. Walsh for the arrest of a Bedford man and his wife on charges of conspiracy in connection with the confiscation of the huge distilling plant owned by the DeLoys in Bedford on May 21.

The warrants are made out in the names of Stanley and Bessie DeLoys and will be served by U. S. Deputy Marshal Hart this afternoon.

Federal officers claim that the farm of the DeLoys is not far distant from the moonshine plant and that water pipe has been traced from the farm to the plant. When the seizure was made two DeLoys men were arrested and sent to East Cambridge to await bail.

The DeLoys will appear before Commissioner Walsh on June 11 to answer to a charge of unlawfully and knowingly conspiring with each other and an unknown person in the manufacture, possession and sale of intoxicating liquors, between the dates of Nov. 22, 1922, and May 21, 1924.

CLOSED MEETINGS IN CONNECTION WITH GAS PRICE INQUIRY

Special Investigating Committee of City Council in Secret Session With Gas Light Company Officials—No Report of Meetings Made to Mayor

The special investigating committee of the city council named to probe the gas bill increasing, complained of by many taxpayers held a secret session this morning, spending the greater part of the day in meeting with General Manager Pritchard, Sales Manager Connelly and other officials of the Lowell Gas Light Co. at the office of that corporation in Shattuck street. City Solicitor Reynolds was present. Councilor David W. Dickson is chairman of the committee, which was formed on his motion.

The committee met informally and secretly last night with the city solicitor and no information was given out at the end of the meeting. Mayor Donovan this morning said he knew there was a meeting and expected to be informed of it but had no knowledge what transpired, inferring that he may

DAUGHERTY DECLINES TO TESTIFY AND WITHDRAWS HIS COUNSEL

Charges Committee Members With Attempt to "Blacken" Reputation—Brookhart in Reply Says Existence of Criminal Conspiracy in Daugherty's Household Found

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Former Attorney General Daugherty today notified the senate committee which has had his official conduct under investigation for nearly four months, that he would neither testify as a witness, nor be represented further by counsel, in its proceedings.

The committee had asked the former attorney general to take the witness stand on Friday as the last witness before a preliminary report is submitted to the senate. No formal subpoena had been issued for him, however, and committee members have indicated that they would take no steps to compel his appearance.

Paul Howland, attorney for Mr. Daugherty, read the committee a statement by his client, declaring that "certain members of the committee" had made a desperate attempt to "blacken" his reputation and denying that he had "profited in any illegal, corrupt or unethical way" from his tenure of office.

Mr. Daugherty's statement also declared the federal court in Ohio, in the litigation between the committee

FOR MODIFICATION OF THE VOLSTEAD ACT

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Hearings by the house judiciary committee on 33 bills proposing modification of the Volstead act to permit sale of 2.75 per cent. beer, closed today with more than 100 house members, who had asked for an opportunity to express their views, invited to appear.

Chairman Graham announced that after members had concluded their testimony, the committee would take up consideration of the numerous measures in executive session. He indicated that a report probably would not be made before adjournment of congress.

Some democratic leaders in congress said the question of Senator Walsh's selection had virtually been settled. The Montana senator, however, declined to comment on the reports.

Groups and Lines of Room Should Be Proportioned

THE DRAPERIES IN THIS ROOM WOULD LOOK BETTER, IF TIED BACK FARTHER DOWN, TO KEEP THE PROPORTIONS.

One of the fundamental thoughts in furnishing a room is the idea of proportions.

The reason why people are attracted to the unusually tall man and the unusually short one together is because one accentuates the other and each is made all the more unusual by the proximity of the other. Both make a queer, inharmonious group.

Similarly with furniture, or any other features about the home.

Place a small Windsor chair alongside a heavy overstuffed easy chair, and there is a clash of appearances. They do not blend artistically. They make a distasteful group.

Unwelcome Feeling

Put large, heavy curtains on a small, single window and they overbalance the window. Put a heavy, overstuffed sofa in a dainty sunroom, and the place will be nothing but sofa—opposed to the very idea of the room.

Hang a large mirror over a dainty wall table in the hall and the mirror will appear to shatter the table if it fell.

Just as pieces in a group should be proportionate, the groups themselves should harmonize as to size as well as lines and color. A heavy group at only one end of the room with all other groups light, overbalanced the room and makes the entire place feel uncomfortable and uninviting.

Unconventional

Walls, doors and windows should be proportionately divided for valances, hangings or paneling. The best proportionate division for a rectangular surface, like a wall, door or window, is three-eighths or five-eighths from one side. Halves, thirds or quarters make the proportions look uninteresting and devoid of personality.

For instance, the tie-back on the window drapery makes the entire hanging look best when placed three-eighths from the bottom of the window. A shade drawn down rather "unconventionally" during the day should be three-eighths from the top. Valances along the kitchen wall should be three-eighths or five-eighths from the bottom. And so on.

All proportions tend to depart from the conventional, stereotyped half, quarter or third.

A well proportioned room depends on the adaptation of this principle for its beauty and atmosphere.

THE ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Investigating Committee Recommends That No Change Be Made in Supervision

A clean bill of health was given the conduct and management of the municipal isolation hospital in the city council last night by the special council investigating committee named a few months ago. The report, signed by all five members of the committee, was accepted as read and ordered filed. The report of the committee, covering a dozen typewritten pages, reviews the lengthy investigation, makes a synopsis of the same, and recommends no change in authority or supervision at the institution. The finding follows:

"Your committee finds upon all the evidence submitted—that the hospital in its design, construction and the grouping of its various buildings—is such that necessarily sustains a great burden of expense, and because of such grouping is bound to be an expensive institution to the city in its operation and maintenance—such conditions being due to its physical organization—and not on account of mismanagement or extravagant administration.

"There has not appeared to your committee—during its investigation—any evidence that would bespeak extravagance or waste; or indifference to the idea of careful, conscientious administration of the hospital—either on the part of the board of health or on the part of anyone concerned with the intimate control or supervision of the business or management or affairs of the hospital.

"Your committee finds, moreover, as it was expressed in the written report of the board of health to the honor, the Mayor, as well as orally expressed and asserted by Dr. Francis R. Mahony, chairman of the board of health, during his examination 'that the conduct of the hospital—the purchasing of all materials and supplies, are functions over which the board of health is directly responsible.'"

"Your committee is satisfied of the soundness of that position taken—otherwise there could be no legal, orderly or proper administration of the business of the hospital.

"In conclusion your committee is inclined to recommend that there be no transfer or change in authority or supervision in the management and control of the business and affairs of the Lowell isolation hospital.

"It would be unwise to separate at present—this important subdepartment of the board of health—to give over the control and management of the isolation hospital to the county authorities, seems to your committee, to be not only unwise but impracticable, for to part with the control of an institution so important in the safeguarding of the public health would,

in the opinion of your committee, work a great detriment to the peace, comfort and happiness of the people of our city.

"That the hospital in its maintenance is an expensive proposition—no might it be said of all administrative units in government at the present day—yet in the absence of wasteful and extravagant management—your committee feels that there is no warrant in finding that the city should relinquish its control over an institution which renders care and attention and relief to the sick and infirm who have recourse to our hospital for aid and sustenance.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear little son, John R. Sexton, who passed away June 4, 1922.
Two lonely years have passed away since our great sorrow fell.
Yet in our hearts we mourn the loss of him we loved so well.
Although his face we cannot see,
His voice we cannot hear,
We often sit and think of him
And shed a silent tear.
Sadly missed by his parents,
MR. AND MRS. GEO. E. SEXTON.

CONTESTS FOR SEATS IN G. O. P. CONVENTION

CLEVELAND, June 4.—Contests for seats in the republican national convention here next week, fought by warring factions in five southern states and the District of Columbia, came before the republican national committee upon assembling here today. With all of the contestants pledged for President Coolidge, the question involved is one of the control of state and district organizations. Since the contests were so few in number, their speedy disposition was forecast.

Senator Wheeler Talks
ST. LOUIS, June 4.—Former Attorney General Daugherty did not care to lay himself open to the rigorous examination that would have awaited him, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, asserted here today in commenting on Daugherty's refusal to appear before the senate investigating committee, of which Wheeler is a member.

HE DIDN'T HAVE MUCH BRAIN MATTER!

He was the biggest beast that ever roamed the earth, but his head was no bigger than a pumpkin. Scientists think he lived about 5,000,000 years ago. They call him a "brontosaurus." Excavations by scientists near Jensen, Utah, from the Smithsonian Institution, Carnegie Institute and the University of Utah have yielded various gigantic bones. Now, with the discovery of his skull by Dr. Earl B. Douglass, working for the Utah University, the skeleton is complete. The above picture shows the face of the dinosaur quarry and reveals the methods used in blocking out and removing sections of solid rock containing prehistoric bones.

Here is another section of the Jensen quarry. It reveals a veritable mine of dinosaur bones.

DONALD M. CAMERON FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Donald R. Cameron, former councilman for Ward Three, is prominently mentioned as probable successor to the late Franklin E. Johnson as a member of the school committee. The school board and the city council will meet in joint convention tomorrow night for the purpose of electing a successor to serve for the remainder of the calendar year.

The candidacy of Mr. Cameron, who retired from active politics last year, received a boost at the start, several of his former colleagues in the council stating unhesitatingly that they will support him. Mr. Cameron is a republican, as was Mr. Johnson and friends of the Cameron candidacy state much of their hopes in this fact, feeling that opinion will favor the election of some one of the same political affiliations as the deceased.

Arthur L. Eno, local attorney, today said he is not a candidate and had never declared himself as such. Many of his friends urged him to compete, he said, but he has decided not to enter the list. The other candidates mentioned are Cornelius J. Sullivan, J. Eugene Mullin and Patrick Cox.

At the city solicitor's office this morning a reporter for The Sun was told that Mr. Reynolds was in conference with the gas probe committee of the city council. A search of the various chambers and committee rooms at city hall failed to divulge their whereabouts. It was later learned that the committee, the city solicitor, and the high officials of the gas company were in conference in offices on the second floor of the building of the Lowell Gas Light Co. Whether a meeting was formally called to order by Councilor Dickson at the gas company office could not be learned as it was said the conference was not to be disturbed. It has for a long time been customary to post on a wall calendar in the city messenger's office notification of all committee meetings, whether of the council or of other municipal bodies. This was avoided in connection with the session of the gas probe committee of last night and also insofar as today's meeting with the gas company officials was concerned.

After reporters had learned of the meeting, the committee chairman, Councilor Dickson, shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon, notified the newspapers that the committee today conferred with gas company officials and after the conference decided to hold a meeting next Monday night in city hall which will be open to the press.

EXPRESS TRAIN WRECKED —THREE LIVES LOST

WORCESTER, June 4.—The consensus of opinion of state, county and police officials is that the wreck of the New York-bound Twilight express of the Boston & Albany road in which three lives were lost, is that the cause of the wreck was the inoperative brakes. The train was a piece of shale rock placed on the rails probably by children too young to be mindful of possibly serious consequences.

side event. Ever since then, as Lord Derby remarked the other night, his family has been trying to win the Derby. Today it finally succeeded through Sansovino's fine performance.

Sansovino, who had been made favorite in the event over night, was 5 to 2 against in the betting. Second place was captured by Viscount Astor's St. Germans, by Swanford, out of Hamaze, at 100 to 7 against, a neck ahead of Somerville Tattersall's Hunswood, by Gay Crusader, out of Bleasdale, at 20 to 1 in third place.

A field of 25 horses started. Sansovino's time was 2 minutes, 48 2/5 seconds, which is 12 1/2 seconds slower than the record. Roundabout Tottenham corner, Sansovino held the premier position. He kept the lead from then on and won in a center.

Sansovino Was Favorite

EPSON DOWNS, Surrey, England, June 4.—(By the Associated Press.) The dawn of Derby Day disclosed a gray sky with a chilly wind, portending rain. Britishers, however, are familiar with such dawns and thousands of them, willing to take a chance with the weather as with the horses, were at the track early with thousands of others waiting their way either by train, motor, in ferries and on foot.

The handlers were about their tasks early, getting the 30 or so three-year-olds ready for the dash of a mile and a half which constitutes Great Britain's blue ribbon classic, and upon the result of which the entire nation's interest is centered. The horses were to go to the post at a clock.

The uncertainty over the possible winner was greater than ever this morning and amateur betters were warned by the sport writers not to back any horse without being prepared to lose their money. The selections of the tipsters differed widely and all tied a string to their chances.

The doubtful outcome of the race was emphasized by an overcast which in the betting odds, the Earl of Derby's Sansovino, becoming favorite at 7 to 1 against 1. Lord Kinnaird's Hunswood, second place at 8 to 1, and Lord Wootton's Tom Punch, third, quoted third at 10 to 1.

Four Cases in Emulation of Japanese Who Slew Himself in Protest Against U.S. Letter Found on Body of One Called Exclusion Measure a "Racial Insult"

TOKIO, June 4.—(By the Associated Press.) Provincial correspondents of the vernacular newspapers report four cases of suicide carried out in emulation of the Japanese who slew himself near the ruins of the old American embassy building May 31, in protest against American exclusion of Japanese immigrants.

In the last three cases, however, the attributed motive of anti-Americanism is unsubstantiated. The cases are related from Choshi, Hamamatsu, Okayama and Toyama-shi. In the last named case, the police said they found a letter on the body addressed to Cyrus E. Woods, retiring American ambassador. It mentioned the exclusion measure as a "racial insult" and referring to the "indomitable Japanese spirit."

hangar at 7:03 a. m., standard time, after having been lost in New Jersey for weeks for several hours. The ship lost her position shortly after passing over Trenton at 2 o'clock this morning. During an hour and a half of the time thereafter radio operators at the naval station were unable to communicate with her. The naval air station was made at 5:30 a. m., standard time, and after two unsuccessful attempts at landing, Commander Zarysky, Landsdowne, found it necessary to "value" or let out 20,000 cubic feet of helium before the craft could be brought down.

Having been forced to remain aloft until the fog lifted, the ship, already lightened by partly emptied fuel tanks, was made more buoyant by expansion of the helium as the sun rose. When the dirigible was brought down at the completion of her 2 1/2 hour trip, she had sufficient fuel on board for 21 hours.

The craft encountered three thunder storms in New York in the region of Oswego and Binghamton, with lightning playing around her on all sides. Sailing low over the Seneca Falls, she was covered with spray.

A relief crew was included in the personnel of the ship, virtually every man aboard having had an opportunity to sleep. Officers at the station said they expected to make a test flight over eastern cities during the early part of next week.

Eleven witnesses went before the jury yesterday and more than a score remain to be heard.

That the defense will be made by the most brilliant attorneys in the country is considered certain by prosecutors because of the reputed $15,000,000 represented by parents of the youths.

All the money in the world won't save these boys," declared Michael Hughes, chief of detectives. "It's the most nearly complete case ever gotten together. Upon the information given solely by Leopold and Leach we have unearthed too much corroborative evidence involving them to permit them to escape. I am certain they will receive their death penalty."

LT. SMITH IN COMMAND

Made Permanent Commander of Globe Encircling Flyers

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Acting upon the personal request of Maj. Frederick L. Martin, former commander of the army around-the-world flight squadron, Maj. Gen. Patrick, chief of the army service yesterday designated Lt. Lowell H. Smith to be permanently in command of the globe-encircling flyers. Lt. Smith was placed temporarily in charge of the flight when Major Martin's machine was wrecked in Alaska, and he and his mechanic, Staff Sgt. Alva T. Harvey, were lost in the wilds of Alaska.

The plan which had been proposed by Gen. Patrick and tentatively approved by Secretary Weeks provided for sending Maj. Martin with a new plane to Europe, to rejoin the flight there and re-assume command during the trip across the Atlantic. Final decision was withheld, however, until Maj. Martin arrived in Washington.

FOR RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA BY HOLLAND

MOSCOW, June 4.—(By the Associated Press) Negotiations between Russia and Holland looking to the latter's recognition of the Soviet government will be resumed in London in the near future. and yesterday he sent the following letter to Gen. Patric. The success of this great undertaking is the essential thing, and not the wishes or continued confidence in me and the desires of any of the flyers. "I am very grateful to you for your telling me of your wishes to have me resume my place as commander of the world flight. The responsibility for a serious part of the journey we started, and it was agreed that any of us had to fail out, the flight himself well."

JOHN T. ADAMS, CHAIRMAN, REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

BY LARRY BOARDMAN
N.E.A. Service Writer
WASHINGTON, June 4.—That well-known song, "Sweet and Low," might have been dedicated to the Republican National Committee headquarters.

It is so quiet and calm you can almost hear the "earnest workers" thinking.

John T. Adams, committee chairman, sits in state in an office overlooking Potomac park and the green hills of Virginia.

Every now and then he calls in Publicity Director J. Bennett Gordon, pulled out for Cleveland, to make final arrangements for their impending national convention.

The rest of the answer seems to be that the Republicans are imbued with the previous administration's idea that any noise is more or less undignified, and the less said the better.

But they all have the confidence of the whole place is riotous—just like, a country morgue.

Part of the answer is that a good, it's a church someone will whisper many of the "earnest workers" have "Goodbye."

SAMUEL GOMPERS SENDS LETTER OF WARNING

President Samuel Gompers, American Federation of Labor, has addressed to all labor unions affiliated with the organization, an open letter, denouncing in strong terms the alleged aims and purposes of the so-called Farmer-Labor party convention, recently held in St. Paul, Minn. The latter organization is said to be prepared to put a presidential nomination ticket in the national election field in November, numerous states, including Massachusetts, being selected for the first nation-wide try-out of the new political party.

Lowell Trades & Labor council members have received one of the Gompers' communications of protest and endorse it from beginning to end. The letter, of considerable length and containing valuable advice to members of organized labor as men and women workers unaffiliated with the American Federation of Labor, describes the Farmer-Labor party as an organization constructed by discontents, who are attempting to injure all respectable labor movements and undermine the government. The instigators of the movement are denounced as communists and enemies of all orderly government in all lines, who are "trying to get their hands upon the machinery of America."

Mr. Gompers further states that circulars in profusion are being sent to organizations of labor by various groups of seemingly harmless or well-meaning individuals, urging that delegates be sent to a convention, to be held in St. Paul, June 17 next, to nominate a candidate for the president of the United States. Mr. Gompers calls attention to the fact that these communications are disguised as an effort to promote political and economic progress, but he and numerous other American organized labor leaders of high standing have positive information that the St. Paul "conference" promoters are being directed solely by a group of firebrand international communists, who from Moscow are today sowing seeds of dissension and revolutionary propaganda wherever they can. This group is today working through college and lecture platform professional American radicals, on one thus far very favorable publicity track, strange as it may seem.

The American Federation of Labor leader declares unequivocally that American labor has in no way given its support to the June 17 St. Paul convention. The executive officers of the National Farmer-Labor party, so-called, realizing the danger in the present situation have called upon all progressive farmers and trade unionists to abandon the Farmer-Labor party for the time being and support by every honorable means, the laws, principles and policies of the American Federation of Labor non-partisan political campaign.

Mrs. J. M. Craig, Mrs. W. I. Brooks, Mrs. A. Hadley, chairman of flower committee, Mrs. G. W. Maxim.

Mrs. Jessop read the minutes of the last meeting and reported on the following which the reports of the various committees for the past year were submitted, showing that at present the club numbers 110 members, 31 new members having been added during the year.

Mrs. Leggat, retiring president, in complimenting and thanking the members for their co-operation during the past year, said: "We have had a very successful year and a very fine program. In the 12 or 13 years during which I have served as president, I cannot recall one as fruitful as the one now closing. I have enjoyed every moment of my work with you and it was with pleasure that I took the chair each Tuesday to preside over our meetings which have been so pleasant. I am proud to say that I have been president of an educational club. I want to thank one and all for kindnesses extended and co-operation. In every one I see a friend, and after all, we are just a little family. I want to especially thank Mrs. Jessop, my secretary, who has been like a sweet daughter to me during our year's work. And, as I take my place among you as one of the audience during the ensuing year, I shall take it with pleasure and I shall gladly give my support to Mrs. Jessop, our president, and her assistants."

Mrs. W. M. Barker, for 10 years chairman of the hospitality committee, was then presented two bouquets, one of red tulips and the other, snowballs and lilacs. Mrs. Barker, who, since the institution of Tea Day in the club 10 years ago, has worked unceasingly and successfully, has also given a vote of thanks in recognition of her services.

Mrs. Caroline Crawford, chairman of the flower committee who also resigned at yesterday's meeting, was given a rising vote of thanks for the work accomplished during her term as chairman of the committee. It was due to Mrs. Crawford's generosity that the tables were always prettily decorated at every meeting and it was with regret that the members saw her leave office.

Mrs. Thelma T. Hadley, chairman of the nominating committee, then escorted the new president to the chair as well as the secretary, Mrs. William Cox.

PLAN TO AID HOME BUYING PROPOSED BY REAL ESTATE SPECIALISTS

Easy Payments in Form of Rent and the Homes Paid For After Nine to 12 Years' Occupancy—Real Estate Men Favor Scheme

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, June 4.—A model loan plan for financing home buying over the country was recommended to real estate finance specialists of the United States and Canada in a report made today to the National Association of Real Estate Boards at its annual convention here. The plan was brought before the mortgage and finance division of the association by M. D. Arnold, Jr., of Knoxville, Tenn., chairman of a committee of the division which has been investigating the present tendencies with regard to housing loans, and is based upon a survey of real estate dealers and lenders on real estate in 32 states.

The report said that the tendency at present throughout the United States on housing loans is decidedly toward amortized loans. The plan of long-term financing for home buying as recommended is intended to combine the maximum of convenience for the man who is entering into payments for his home with the maximum of safety for the investor and with the maximum of fairness to the dealer or contractor who may hold the second mortgage on the property.

The plan, briefly, is as follows:
1. A first mortgage loan not exceeding 50 per cent. of a fair appraisal. The committee declared that "this should meet the requirements of the lender who rightfully expects a satisfactory margin of safety."

2. A loan for a period of 10 to 15 years; interest only to be paid for three to five years, with amortized payments thereafter until maturity. This, in the opinion of the committee, should meet the requirements of the lender on account of the permanency of the loan, and should be acceptable to the dealer or contractor, as it will enable the purchaser to take care of the payment of the second mortgage note.

3. Prepayment option, in whole or in part, after three years from date of loan. This, said the committee, should "ordinarily satisfy the lender, and should appeal to the owner who is fortunate enough to be able to get rid of the second mortgage and begin amortization payments at the end of three years from date of loan."

Another plan built on the basis of "no money down" which spreads the builder's profits over 12 years and makes them average 25 cents a day and is meant especially to benefit home-seekers earning more than $2500, but less than $4000, was presented by C. T. Moffett of Minneapolis, Minn., as his individual opinion. He agreed this plan might sound "like the scheme of a sentimental philanthropist," but said it had proved sound and profitable business in his own case.

His plan calls for a lease of 36 months, an option for one dollar signed at closure; a form of contract to be signed on or before the 37th month to continue 105 months more or a total of 141 months or 12 years, then delivery of deed conveying a clear, marketable title. The rate of money interest is 7 per cent. The payments, including interest, are $10.25 a month for each $1000 of sale price. The tenant must pay insurance, taxes and water rent the same as if the house had been bought for cash. Home buyers should not, he said, agree to pay more than 25 per cent of the gross family income.

"The money down payment is bad psychology," argued Mr. Moffett. "It is evident to the buyer that the broker does not believe he will pay the balance unless he is compelled by threat of foreclosure or the forfeiture of a considerable sum. The buyer will not become a walking advertisement for the broker as he will under the 12-year payment system."

People with salaries of more than $1000 should be able in three years to save up enough to buy their houses outright, he declared. He pointed out that 100 sales under this plan would yield the builder a profit of $25 a day, or enough to build one new house a month. On a house costing the home buyer $65 a month, the builder's profit would be about $7.50 a month under the Moffett plan.

GAVE ENTERTAINMENT IN KITSON HALL

CLASS CONFIRMED AT ST. JEAN BAPTIST CHURCH

Right Rev. Joseph G. Anderson, V. G. auxiliary bishop of Boston, administered the sacrament of confirmation to a class of 190 children, boys and girls, at St. Jean Baptist church this afternoon. Rev. J. B. Labossiere, Very Rev. J. E. Turello, O. M. I., and Rev. Emile Bolduc, O. M. I., assisted the bishop.

Mrs. Charles Idette, president of St. Anne's sodality of the church, was sponsor for the girls, while Mr. Hermine Bourgeois, president of the Holy Family society, was sponsor for the boys.

Following the conferring of the sacrament, Bishop Anderson spoke briefly to the children, reminding them of the dignity of the honor paid them today and urging them to remain always soldiers of Christ.

The ceremony was brought to a close with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Rev. Augustine Gratton, O. M. I., officiating.

Rev. Emile Bolduc, O. M. I., was in charge of the boys while Rev. Augustine Gratton, O. M. I., directed the girls. This morning at a mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Joseph Emery, O. M. I., assisted in communion by Rev. Fr. Bolduc and Rev. Fr. Gratton, the aspirants received communion in a body following which a short instruction was given them.

After duets by Mr. and Mrs. J. William Etzel and solos by Mrs. Bertha Chapman Huse were most pleasing. "Thankful for Jack" and "Because It Rained," two light comedy sketches, were much appreciated by the audience. Ballet (or dancing) was given by little Miss Hester Newman, in costume. Miss Ida Cross entertained with numerous readings.

Among those taking part in the evening's program were Mr. and Mrs. William J. Etzel, Miss Margaret Atkinson, Miss Joseph Haynes, and the Misses Louis Harnett, Nellie Thayer, Anna Heald, Hazel Colby, Alice and Emile Battersby, Bertha Brooks, Emily Davis and Sybil Dismore.

General dancing followed the entertainment and refreshments were served.

CLOTHING FOR THE NEAR EAST RELIEF

A generous response to the appeal for clothing for the Near East relief has been encountered here but there has been some misunderstanding as to where bundles of clothing might be left. So that all who desire to give may be able to do so, the shipment has been postponed to the last of the week and contributions may be left at the Kirk street primary school from 8:30 to 2 o'clock and at the Y.M.C.A. at any time during the day.

BACKYARD PLAYGROUNDS

Give Children a Yard Swing

BY W. C. BACHELOR

A swing is one of the most popular diversions for either a boy or a girl. We never quite outgrow the pleasurable sensation resulting from our bodies traveling through the air. It may be by means of a swing, a broad jump, a pole vault, a dive, riding in an automobile, an airplane, or a mechanical device at an amusement park. Once fear is overcome the pleasure is universal.

The first consideration, therefore, in the construction of a swing, is safety. A swing should be built by a good workman. From pipe is preferable for the framework, but with care a safe and substantial swing frame may be built of wood at a considerable saving. Ten feet is a good height. The seat should be 20 inches from the ground. The accompanying sketch indicates a safe method of construction.

Material for frame:
Two pieces, 4 inches by 4 inches by 13 feet (uprights).
Four pieces, 2 inches by 4 inches by 8 feet (braces).
One piece, 4 inches by 4 inches by 6 feet (cross bar).

One pound No. 20 casing nails.
(Approximate cost $3.50.)
The joints should be mortised, bound with band iron, or braced with 2 by 4-inch cleats.

If an iron frame is desired, the following materials are needed:
Two pieces 3-inch pipe, 13 feet.
One piece 3-inch pipe, 6 feet.
Two 3-foot elbows.

Two 3-foot flanges.
(Approximate cost, $15.67).
For galvanized pipe and malleable fittings, add about 25 per cent.

If set 3 feet in concrete, no braces are necessary.
Chain is superior to rope for the swing. Hangers should be of roller or ball-bearing type to avoid wear. Hangers, or swings complete with hangers, may be purchased from local sporting goods leaders. For children up to 5 or 6 years, a baby swing of the chair type is preferable.

Material for seat:
Eighteen feet of building chain, No. 4-0, 30 cents.
One piece, 2 inches by 8 inches by 20 inches, 15 cents.
Two ball-bearing hangers.
(For wood frame, $4.23.)
(For pipe frame, $4.70.)

Instead of ball-bearing hangers, a blacksmith will make either of the two hangers shown in the upper left-hand corner of the diagram for about one dollar.

The steel link swing is ready-made with ball-bearing hangers. (For wood frame, $9.00; for pipe frame, $9.50.) This chair swing is ready-made with ball-bearing hangers. (For wood frame, $7.50; for pipe frame, $8.50.) An old automobile tire, suspended by a rope or chain, makes a very good improvised swing, and if hung about a foot from the ground, also answers the purpose of a trapeze for small children.

John E. Roane, Daniel Howard, Raoul Lachar, Thomas Sayers, Estelle Doran, Miss Rose McCarthy, William Burns, George Carr, Mrs. John Farrell, Henry Triscoli, Agnes McKennedy and Coroline Collins, who were singing, William Carr, reading, David Burke, and Miss Nellie, Harry McHenry, Professor L. S. Guilbeault was the accompanist. Dancing followed the entertainment.

TOKIO, June 1 (By the Associated Press).—Captain Georges Pelletier Doby, French aviator, hopped off from Tokyo, Korea, where he had arrived this morning from Hiroshima, Japan, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, but was forced to return to Tokyo after a short flight. LOCAL FISHERMEN HAVE
NARROW ESCAPE

Fifteen-year-old Sator Harry Peterson is back among the home folks once again, regularly attending Bartlett Junior high school five days each week and performing snappy clerkship duties after hours at Lee Barlow's popular distributing station for Lowell Sun, candy, cigars and fruits at 13 Chalmers street.

And everybody at Bartlett school and Lee's trading mart, as well as in the neighborhood of Sator Harry's regular port of call, presided over by Captain La and Ma, is happy to know that the deep sea sailor boy fisherman has returned to a safe haven.

Bartlett school's only real sailor of early waters has a story to tell. So he had Peterson, too.

Had he none other than a well known Lowell citizen employed in the lumber district off Fletcher street and Western avenue, Gustave Peterson, expert fisherman, who lives on Lapine road.

The three Lowell residents had visited Swampscott for a day's end fishing trip. They had been there for a week, and Sator Harry Peterson, who had been there for a week, had been there for a week.

He could tell also, for he was a member of the Peterson party that fished in a near desperate fishing trip disaster off the coast of Swampscott last week Friday and luckily lived to tell the tale. He is Harry E. Nudd, an expert mill spinner, who lives on Lapine road.

Billy Evans SAYS

Nothing makes an idol of a ball player quicker than the ability to hit.

Since the inception of the game, baseball has had its idols but never one who received the hero worship accorded Babe Ruth.

Ruth was a player in the spotlight because of his ability to hit the ball, his specialty being the making of home runs.

Ruth won his first popularity in Boston as a pitcher, then as a champion batter, the home-run king of the universe.

Boston is at present paying homage to another son of sweat, the Bostonian, like Ruth, who is a big, husky fellow, who hits from hard.

The style of batting of the two, however, differs widely. Ruth hits their high and far, the home-run king, while the Bostonian hits low and hard.

Boston hits for many extra bases, but they are doubles and triples rather than home runs.

It seems that Boston is to win fame as a big league batters after no less an authority than Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants passed him up.

Last winter in conversation with Manager Lou Fohl of Boston I brought up the question of the makeup of his outfield. It was before Veach had been secured from Detroit.

"I am positive that any fellow who can hit better than 100 in an organization as strong as the Boston league should have no trouble making the grade in the majors," was Fohl's viewpoint.

Long before the season opened Fohl had determined that he was the regular right fielder.

That bit of wisdom on the part of Fohl helped to make Boston. It gave him confidence and spurred him on to get into the best possible shape. He is 20 pounds heavier this year than ever in his career.

For the first time in his career Fohl justified Fohl's opinion. His hitting featured the early play of the Red Sox. He was heralded as a great hitter, a second Ruth.

Then came a slump and for a week or more Boston was almost helpless at the bat. He was pressing, which threw him off his stride, changed his natural swing. Fohl took him out of the lineup, sending in the veteran Outis. Boston is a bit better now.

"All the needs is a breathing spell," exclaimed Fohl. "Anybody to keep up his great start, he has been trying too hard, not hitting natural. He will be back in a few days in a few days, then watch his smile."

Looks as if Fohl had the proper plant. After a few days' rest, Fohl sent Boston back into the lineup, and his great work at the bat has been a big factor in Boston's winning streak.

Keep your eye on the Bostonian. Psychologists say a man never craves for a smoke as much as when he is reduced to his last match.

LOWELL TEAM ENTERED

High School Track Team in Meet at Harvard Stadium Saturday

Lowell high school entered its crack track team in the fourth annual track meet of the Massachusetts High School Athletic association, to be held at the Harvard stadium Saturday afternoon, and Coach "Mike" Hagerty believes Lowell will be among the first three when the returns are tabulated.

The local entries follow: 100 yard dash, Daley; 120 yard, Porrett, Latham and Wheeler; 440 yard, Slavin and E. Latham; 880 yard, Burke, Pearson and Latham; high jump, Vinat; long jump, Forrest, Daley and Heron. The local school has also entered for the day but it has not been definitely decided if the runners who will take part in this contest.

One of the most interesting events on the program will be the 100 yard dash. Entered in this contest is a runner named Daley, who has been named as the best dash man in the state. He is a local high schooler, who was defeated by Daley at the Boston meet and it is the opinion of all who have watched Daley in the local and inter-school meets that he can defeat him again if in condition.

The local track team has been very successful this year and has gained considerable respect for its showings at Bowdoin and at the Penn State meet, when it led all other high schools in the meet and was defeated only by Princeton.

Lowell's meet are entered the following teams of the state: an even break for first place is given the Lowell, Medford, Brockton and Newton teams by men who have followed track throughout the year.

St. Margaret's Church Choir
Banqueted — Handsome
Baton for Miss Hennessey

At a dinner tendered last evening by Rev. Charles J. Halligan, pastor of St. Margaret's church, to the members of the choir and the members of the church, a most agreeable surprise was sprung on Miss Katherine V. Hennessey, the capable director of the choir, when she was singularly honored by being presented a baton as a gift of her fellow members. Rev. J. J. Halligan, the pastor, in making his appreciation of the work of the choir in the arrangement of the musical programs spoke eloquently on their very creditable work and said that he had been authorized by the choir members to present the gift to Miss Hennessey as a token of their regard.

Miss Hennessey is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Hennessey, 128 Pine street. She is a pupil of Signer Pien, and graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, has been the director of St. Margaret's choir for several years and her work has been recognized by the clergy and laymen alike, she having won words of praise from William Cardinal O'Connell on a visit here recently. She is also supervisor of music in the public schools and has been unusually generous in aiding organizations, in giving of her time and her talent in concert. Not only did she express her appreciation of the honor done her last evening, by speaking briefly, but she gave a brace of songs with characteristic artistry.

The following members of the choir gave a most enjoyable and pleasing entertainment following the banquet:

RECORD SEIZURE OF LIQUOR

Customs Officers Take Possession of Barge Tied Up at Rouse Point, N. Y.

Cargo of 75,000 Bottles of Booze Confiscated—Search Made on Hunch

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 3.—What is believed to be a record seizure of booze along the Canadian border since the advent of the Volstead act, was made by customs officers yesterday when they took possession of a barge, tied up at the Railroad wharf at Rouse's Point, N. Y., with a cargo estimated at nearly 75,000 bottles of liquor. The seizure was made known today.

Cleverly concealed beneath a surface cargo of lumber and bark, the custom officers found approximately 1000 barrels. Examination of the barrels revealed that they each contained 75 bottles of ale.

The exact count of the barrels has not as yet been made. Whether some of the barrels contain stronger liquor than ale has not yet been ascertained either.

No arrests have been made as yet and customs officers said they did not know who owned the barge or the liquor.

The barge is thought to have come to Rouse's Point yesterday from Montreal. The officers made the search on a hunch.

The readers of THE SUN are the bone and sinew of Lowell. They are practically all Lowell people who have helped to make the city what it is.

They earn their living in Lowell; they spend their money in Lowell; they are the main support of the Lowell merchants.

SUN readers are not in the habit of running to Boston for their supplies. They trade at home.

They are the largest body of newspaper readers in the city, and few of them read any other paper because they don't need to.

There is only one way for the merchant to reach this large, thrifty, industrious and intelligent body of readers, and that is through the columns of THE SUN.

LOWELL ROTARY CLUB

Local Rotarians Hear Field Secretary of National Shoe Retailers' Association

Speaker Says Business Needs Backing of Men With Higher Mentalities

Peop from a business pep-distributor was lavishly provided for the inauguration of Lowell Rotarians and business men guests yesterday afternoon, when Samuel A. Davies, field secretary of the National Shoe Retailers' association, who has lectured in 300 American cities, happened in miles Lowell until today, placed the missing link in his 1921 itinerary firmly in place to the edification of all present and reporting.

Rotarians turned out in mass this noon, with a host of invited one-man guests also on hand, some for the very first "intro" broadcast—largest dinner congregation of the season in official totals.

Interest centered in the speaker, lavishly billed in advance as having a national reputation as an orator, a psychologist, a peptologist and a business man, who invariably makes the people sit up and listen at conventional and trade meetings—who has something to say and knows how to say it. At the Rotary club this afternoon, "Sam" Davies, as he is known in Rotary, was all of that and a good bit more.

Gardner Macintyre made a stirring, red-blooded appeal in behalf of Lowell high school athletes, announcing the coming attraction scheduled for Alumni field, on Saturday, June 21. The Macintyre speech had the snap that counts and the popular Rotarian may be assured of full Rotarian support in the campaign to put the coming field day over with abundant success.

Capt. Joseph A. Molloy was called upon to advertise the coming boxing bouts at Moody club, arranged as a benefit for the American Legion relief fund. Five snappy twines are coming, and Rotarians will buy tickets down the line, as usual.

Brother Ira Morse introduced the visiting speaker, Brother Davies, who smoothed the way for his better-known methods speech by the short-story route, launched into a flow of words to his heart, the traveling psychologist-business builder first praised Rotary as a "science of service and sacrifice." He described the meaning of each letter in R-O-T-A-R-Y, as follows:

R—Right; O—Organization; T—Truth; A—Action; R—Results; Y—Youth.

The speaker pleaded for a more "let-together" spirit among American business men of today. He said business everywhere was suffering from lack of the spirit that encourages the fruits that come from the collective ideas of business men working in harmony and co-operation.

"American opportunities and local civic and commercial possibilities today are very great," Mr. Davies continued. "But we must have some form of real civic consciousness first. There are too many cautious, fear-flashed today in many lines of business, the terrible ones, the cranks, the disgruntled and the discontented. We need an intellectual conscience. I truly believe, in many lines of American business, before we can have prosperity."

The business-builder described the "service clubs" which he has organized in many sections of the country. They fought continually for co-operation and education in business, he said.

Mr. Davies believes that there is "an over-percentage of the retail business" in the United States at the present time. There should be more students of business administration, and less retail business at the present time, he said. If there is to be real prosperity, he said, the business man must be a student of business.

"Higher mentalities are needed in these modern days of business, too," said Mr. Davies. "Advertising is recognized more and more as essential to the greatest success of business today. We even have advertising clubs in our colleges now. Business must be 'scientized.' Many retailers are not keeping up with the times by studying and reading enough about the values of higher mentalities.

They must reach out for higher always brings failure. The one-man manager cannot win if he does not reach out eternally for something higher. A business may have a clever manager, but no clever management. Rotarians must learn more about themselves as well as educate themselves to retain what footholds they already hold. Competition is too keen today for anyone to loaf, slide along or wait. Business is a battle, pure and simple, today. It is 'Thought Action.' Human progress has for years been confined to 'the inner forces.' You're wasting your time loafing and not reaching higher today. You might as well be cracking peanuts with a sledgehammer!

"The speaker called for increased 'spirit of service.' The 'spirit of commerce' is one of the greatest things to think about today, he continued. The world at large needs that inspiration in co-operative force. Then there will be no more gloomy, gas clubs, but Sunny Jims. We must study our own minds, we must get to take theouch out of rough the out of customer, the speaker declared.

"Our factories should be more for the fields of production," said Mr. Davies, just before closing. "Build up by deed and word and constructive thinking. Don't drive a horse through your mills or your business and take the mile out of smiles, but make them more frequent. We need more dreamers—more planners—more actual plodders to get back our prosperity. Keep your pace here in Lowell up to date. We must be executives, even in the retail business. The best boss doesn't boss today; he helps, he instructs, he cheers and he assists his employees. Out in Los Angeles today business men—first there can be—are recognizing the art in heart!"

HOW TO PAY TAXES

Official Directions Covering Process Under New Revenue Bill Issued

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Official directions were issued today by the treasury department covering the process the taxpayer should go through in determining how he should pay his taxes under the new revenue bill.

"If at the time you filed your federal income tax return you paid three-fourths of the amount of the tax reported, no further payments will be due," the treasury said.

"If at the time you filed your return you paid one-half of the amount of tax reported, no payment will be due until Sept. 15."

"If at the time you filed your return you paid only one-fourth of the amount of the tax reported, you must pay on or before June 15th, one-half of the amount paid by you when you filed your return."

"The main point to be borne in mind is that one-half of the tax due from you this year must be paid on or before June 15."

The usual notices have been issued by internal revenue collectors reminding income tax payers that the second installment of tax is due June 15. Of special interest to taxpayers is the provision carried in the new revenue law to the effect that the tax on incomes received by individuals in the calendar year 1923 will be reduced by 25 per cent. This means that every individual who is subject to income tax will be relieved of one-fourth of the tax liability which he reported on the return filed on or prior to March 15, or if the tax was paid in full that he will receive a refund of one-fourth of his payments.

Taxpayers who paid only one-fourth of their tax in March, however, should not make the mistake of thinking they may take credit for the full 25 per cent reduction at once and not pay anything when the second installment comes due. The new law provides that the 25 per cent reduction shall be pro-rated over all four installments.

A considerable number of taxpayers who are accustomed to paying all their tax when they filed their returns, anticipated the 25 per cent reduction and this year paid only three-fourths of the amounts reported on their returns. This class of taxpayers will of course have nothing further to pay this year unless additional tax is disclosed when their returns are audited.

LOWELL LIONS' CLUB

Dr. G. Forrest Martin Installed as King Lion to Succeed Mr. C. E. Bartlett

Club Pays Respect to Memory of the Late Franklin E. Johnson

Dr. G. Forrest Martin was formally installed as king lion of the Lowell Lions' club at the regular meeting of that organization in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday noon. He succeeds Charles E. Bartlett, one of the charter members of the club.

Other officers installed were: Vice president, Fred Harvey; secretary, Gardner Dumas; directors for two years, C. E. Bartlett and Leon Mullen; directors for one year, Elmore J. MacPhie and Frank Kimball; lion tamer, William H. Saunders; tall twister, Arnold Ryan.

Today's meeting was one of the most enthusiastic of the year. Besides the installation of officers, it was unanimously voted to sponsor an illustrated lecture in the Memorial Auditorium on "King Tut" and to devote the entire proceeds to the Lowell Guild. The date for this feature will be decided upon at the next meeting.

In memory of their deceased member, Franklin E. Johnson, former school board member, the gathering stood in reverent silence for one minute while "Tans" was played. Referring King Lion Bartlett took occasion to express a note of sympathy and sorrow in the departure from the ranks of the late Mr. Johnson, who was ever interested in the lions' club affairs.

The attractive Lions emblem recently received in token of the granting of the charter to the local branch was displayed in mounted form for the first time during the dinner today. A vote of thanks was extended Joseph P. Hollingworth for his expert work in mounting the insignia.

The entertainer was Chester M. Runols, who illustrated several intricate tricks and drew a perfect replica of a lion on a handkerchief. His Chinese sleight-of-hand tricks were well received.

Fred Nevers, chairman of the golf committee, announced that the Lowell Rotary club had accepted the challenge of the lions and that a tournament will shortly be arranged.

Clarence E. Towne, physical instructor of the Y.M.C.A., moved and it was voted that the lions club endorse the Red Cross lifesaving campaign.

Suddenly Jack heard a horn blare forth. And immediately the parade of elephants started. Boscoe led the way, swinging his great ears back and forth and wobbling his trunk up and down. Into the great main tent the parade went. As soon as Jack and Flip and Boscoe appeared a great cheering went up. All youngsters like elephants and a treat was in store for them. Boscoe went to the main ring of the tent. Then Jack was helped down and the seat was taken from Boscoe's back.

By this time, Jack noticed that Flip was missing. He started looking around, for his dog when he saw a clown running as fast as he could. And, hanging on to the tail of the clown's coat was Flip. Everybody was laughing and Jack joined in. Flip was getting to be a real circus dog.

being given in New York for over 50 years, and Chicago, Boston and Los Angeles, where it had phenomenal runs, is booked for an engagement at the B. F. Keith theatre, starting June 9, when it will be given with every attention to detail which has marked its earlier success down to the selected Symphony orchestra, which plays the marvelous score, that Hugo Reinhold has devised as the emotional messenger of the production.

"The Covered Wagon" is a story of love and adventure which develops in the wagon train led by Captain Wingate and Young Will Barton that converged at Westport Landing, now Kansas City, Mo., in 1847, and started over the Oregon trail 2000 miles ahead to found a new country on our western coast. Interwoven into the love tale of Barton and pretty Mollie Wingate, the daughter of the hardy American pioneer, with its appealing sense of adventure, is the life of the women who have played and their women who have made history and founded a new empire.

THE STRAND

A college professor is credited with saying: "When can you do when you are in the hands of the so-called rich come out in scantily attired clothing, but abundantly in paint, with a bottle of hair oil, not on the hip, but in the handbag, dance—compulsively, as possible in order to attract enough to be talked about, call for frequent interruptions to give them time and opportunity to quench their thirst from a bottle, and with the man of their choice engaged in violent petting parties in the luxurious retreat of a big limousine, and their women who have played and their women who have made history and founded a new empire."

"Defying Destiny" affords Monte Rine and Miss Rine an opportunity to again reflecting their work as co-stars. They surely accomplish gratifying results in this story by Grace Sanderson Mielke. The story is that of every member of the family will enjoy, for it is brimful of thrilling incidents and romantic episodes. The co-stars are supported by an excellent cast.

Attorney John J. Flaherty of this city, appearing for both defendants, brought out that no charges had been lodged in the lower court at Haver-

Pres. Millerand Summons Paul Painleve to Elysee Palace for Consultation

Millerand Determined To Remain in Office Under Any Circumstances

PARIS, June 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Millerand summoned Paul Painleve, former premier and newly elected president of the chamber of deputies, to the Elysee palace, today for a consultation in regard to the formation of a new cabinet to succeed the outgoing cabinet headed by Raymond Poincare.

Millerand Refuses to Yield
PARIS, June 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Millerand made known to his friends today that he was determined to remain in office under any circumstances unless there should be a majority vote in both the senate and chamber of deputies asking him to retire. Further news of this vote must be in open session with the vote of each senator and deputy recorded.

The president is described by those close to him as being convinced from his inquiries that the majority of the senate is for him, and will refuse to associate itself with the action of the majority in the chamber.

The president is by nature combative and, although he does not cling to the presidency, has told his friends that he will not retire simply because the majority in one house is opposed to him.

LAWRENCE MAN INJURED
Charles Battershill at Hospital as Result of Accident on Boulevard

Was Thrown From Auto to Car Tracks When Machines Crashed

Charles Battershill, of 292 Ames street, Lawrence, one of the proprietors of the Lawrence Drug Co., is at St. John's hospital suffering from numerous lacerations as the result of an automobile collision with a New Hampshire machine driven by Miss Mary Simpson on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard, near Brookside turn-out, about 10 o'clock this morning. Hospital authorities this noon stated that his injuries do not appear to be serious.

Witnesses of the accident regard Mr. Battershill's narrow escape from more serious consequences as miraculous. He was knocked from the driver's seat to the electric car tracks by the impact and his machine was badly damaged. The front seat was torn from its position and the rear end of the car was badly demolished, one wheel being ripped off completely. Miss Simpson's car, a Cadillac coach, suffered a battered front end and broken headlights. The woman, however, escaped with a severe shaking up.

The collision occurred on the rain-soaked road near Hemlock street in the Belle Grove section of Dracut. According to Motor Vehicle Officer Edward Judas, a principal speaker heard from the scene, a hurried trip to the scene and investigated the accident, the Lawrence man's machine, a Hudson coach, was proceeding in the direction of Lowell. At Brookside turn-out another machine was attempting to pass it as the New Hampshire car, Lawrence-bound, came along. Neither driver was able to apply the brakes in time to avoid contact and the two powerful machines came together.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 4.—Fred B. Smith of New York city, chairman of the citizens' committee of 1909 for law enforcement, principal speaker last night at the closing session of the northern Baptist convention, said "any man who says the Volstead act cannot be enforced is uttering treason."

In a denunciation of American lawlessness, he attacked Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, stating that he stands virtually alone among college presidents in his contention that the prohibition law cannot be successfully enforced.

SLAIN FRANKS BOY OPPOSED CAPITAL PUNISHMENT IN DEBATE

CHICAGO, June 4.—Robert Franks, kidnapped and slain schoolboy on whose account the state is seeking indictments against two minors on two charges punishable by death, two weeks before his death debated against capital punishment. His team upheld the negative victoriously against a team, including his brother, Jack, in a school debate on "Resolved, that capital punishment is justified."

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

Warrants Issued For Arrest of Bedford Couple in Connection With Big Raid

Federal warrants were issued today by U. S. Commissioner Richard B. Walsh for the arrest of a Bedford man and his wife on charges of conspiracy in connection with the confiscation of the home distilling plant unguaranteed by federal agents just after the Billerica raid in Bedford on May 21.

The warrants are made out in the names of Stanley and Beulah Deyton and will be served by U. S. Deputy Marshal Hart this afternoon.

Federal officers claim that the farm of the Deytons is not far distant from the moonshine plant and that water pipe has been traced from the farm to the plant. When the raid was made two Chicago men were arrested and sent to East Cambridge to await trial.

The Deytons will appear before Commissioner Walsh on June 11 to answer to a charge of unlawfully and knowingly conspiring with each other and an unknown person in the manufacture, possession and sale of intoxicating liquors, between the dates of Nov. 22, 1923, and May 21, 1924.

DAUGHERTY DECLINES TO TESTIFY AND WITHDRAWS HIS COUNSEL

Charges Committee Members With Attempt to "Blacken" Reputation—Brookhart in Reply Says Existence of Criminal Conspiracy in Daugherty's Household Found

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Former Attorney General Daugherty today notified the senate committee which has had his official conduct under investigation for nearly four months, that he would neither testify as a witness, nor be represented further by counsel, in its proceedings.

The committee had asked the former attorney general to take the witness stand on Friday, as the last witness before a preliminary report is submitted to the senate. No formal subpoena had been issued for him, however, and committee members have indicated that they would take no steps to compel his appearance.

Paul Howard, attorney for Mr. Daugherty, read the committee a statement by his client, declaring that "certain members of the committee" had made a desperate attempt to "blacken" his reputation and denying that he had "practiced in any illegal, corrupt or unethical way" from his tenure of office.

Mr. Daugherty's statement also declared the federal court in Ohio, in the litigation between the committee

Groups and Lines of Room Should Be Proportioned

THE DRAPERIES IN THIS ROOM WOULD LOOK BETTER IF TIED BACK FARTHER DOWN, TO KEEP THE PROPER PROPORTIONS.

One of the fundamental thoughts in furnishing a room is the idea of proportions.

The reason why people are attracted to the unusually tall room and the unusually short one together is because one accentuates the other and each is made all the more unusual by the proximity of the other. Both make a queer, inharmonious group.

Similarly with furniture, or any other features about the home. Place a small Windsor chair alongside a heavy overstuffed easy chair, and there is a clash of appearances. They do not blend artistically. They make a distasteful group.

Unwelcome Feeling

Put large, heavy curtains on a small, single window and they overbalance the window. Put a heavy, overstuffed sofa in a dainty sunroom, and the place will be nothing but sofa—opposed to the very idea of the room.

Hang a large mirror over a dainty wall table in the hall and the mirror will appear to shatter the table if it fell.

Just as pieces in a group should be proportionate, the groups themselves should harmonize as to size as well as lines and color. A heavy group at only one end of the room with all other groups light, overbalances the room and makes the entire place feel uncomfortable and uninviting.

Unconventional doors Walls, doors and windows should be proportionately divided for wall-scotings, hangings or paneling. The best proportionate division for a rectangular surface, like a wall, door or window, is three eighths or five eighths from one side. Halves, thirds or quarters make the proportions look uninteresting and devoid of personality.

For instance, the tie-back on the window drapery makes the entire hanging look best when placed three eighths from the bottom of the window. A shade drawn down rather "unconventionally" during the day should be three eighths from the top.

Wainscoting along the kitchen wall should be three eighths or five eighths from the bottom. And so on.

All proportions tend to depart from the conventional, stereotyped half, quarter or third.

A well proportioned room depends on the adaptation of this principle for its beauty and atmosphere.

THE ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Investigating Committee Recommends That No Change Be Made in Supervision

A clean bill of health was given the conduct and management of the municipal isolation hospital in the city council last night by the special council investigating committee named a few months ago. The report, signed by all five members of the committee, was accepted as read and ordered filed. The report of the committee, covering a dozen typewritten pages, reviews the lengthy investigation, makes a synopsis of the same, and recommends no change in authority or supervision at the institution. The finding follows:

"Your committee finds upon all the evidence submitted—that the hospital in its design, construction and the grouping of its various buildings—is such that necessarily sustains a great burden of expense, and because of such grouping is found to be an expensive institution to the city in its operation and maintenance—such conditions being due to its physical organization—and not an account of mismanagement or extravagant administration."

"There has not appeared to your committee—during its investigation—any evidence that would bespeak extravagance or waste, or indifference in the idea of careful, conscientious administration of the hospital—either on the part of the board of health or on the part of anyone concerned with the intimate control or supervision of the business or management or affairs of the hospital."

"Your committee finds, moreover, as it was expressed in the written resolution of the board of health to this institution so important in the safe, honor, the Mayor, as well as orally expressed and asserted by Dr. Francis R. Mahony, chairman of the board of health, during his examination, 'that the conduct of the hospital—the purchasing of all materials and supplies—are functions over which the board of health is directly responsible.'"

"Your committee is satisfied of the soundness of that position taken—for otherwise there could be no legal, orderly or proper administration of the business of the hospital."

"In conclusion your committee is inclined to recommend that there be no transfer or change in authority or supervision in the management and control of the business and affairs of the Lowell isolation hospital."

"It would be unwise to separate at present this important subdepartment of the board of health—to give over the control and management of the isolation hospital to the county authorities, as your committee seems to have not only unwise but impracticable, for to part with the control of an institution so important in the safe, honor, the Mayor, as well as orally in the opinion of your committee, work a great detriment to the peace, comfort and happiness of the people of our city."

"That the hospital in its maintenance is an expensive proposition—so might it be said of all administrative units in government at the present day—yet in the absence of wasteful and extravagant management—your committee feels that there is no warrant in finding that the city should relinquish its control over an institution which renders care and attention and relief to the sick and infirm who have recourse to our hospital for aid and sustenance."

"JOHN W. DALY, Chairman, EUGENE A. FITZGERALD, JOHN J. McFARLAND, FRANK K. STEADMAN, JOSEPH A. N. CURETHER."

ST. LOUIS, June 4.—Former Attorney General Daugherty said he expects to lay himself out to the rigorous examination that would have awaited him. Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, asserted here today in commenting on Daugherty's refusal to appear before the senate investigating committee, of which Wheeler is a member.

HE DIDN'T HAVE MUCH BRAIN MATTER!

He was the biggest beast that ever roamed the earth, but his head was no bigger than a pumpkin. Scientists think he lived about 5,000,000 years ago. They call him a "brontosaurus." Excavations by scientists near Jensen, Utah, from the Smithsonian Institution, Carnegie Institute and the University of Utah have yielded various gigantic bones. Now, with the discovery of his skull by Dr. Earl B. Douglass, working for the Utah University, the skeleton is complete. The above picture shows the face of the dinosaur quarry and reveals the methods used in blocking out and removing sections of solid rock containing prehistoric bones.

Here is another section of the Jensen quarry. It reveals a veritable mine of dinosaur bones.

DONALD M. CAMERON FOR SCHOOL BOARD

DONALD M. CAMERON, former councilman for Ward Three, is prominently mentioned as probable successor to the late Franklin E. Johnson as a member of the school committee. The school board and the city council will meet in joint convention tomorrow night for the purpose of electing a successor to serve for the remainder of the calendar year.

The candidacy of Mr. Cameron, who retired from active politics last year, received a boost at the start, several of his former colleagues in the council stating unhesitatingly that they will support him. Mr. Cameron is a republican, as was Mr. Johnson and friends of the Cameron candidacy stake much of their hopes in this fact, feeling that opinion will favor the election of some one of the same political affiliations as the deceased.

Arthur L. Eno, local attorney, today said he is not a candidate and had never declared himself as such. Many of his friends urged him to compete, he said, but he has decided not to enter the lists. The other candidates mentioned are Cornelius J. Sullivan, J. Eugene Mullin and Patrick Cox.

HARVARD STUDENT AND ACTRESS WED

NEW YORK, June 4.—Broadway learned last night of the marriage in Carthage, N. C., May 23, of Robert Gould Shaw, 2nd, of "Boulder Farm," Newton Centre, Mass., and Miss Hilma Burt, playing here in "Poppy."

The marriage was announced by Mrs. E. K. Burt, mother of the bride, and confirmation was obtained from the groom's father, who stated he approved of the marriage, having purchased his son an estate in the south. The groom is a student in Harvard. Lady Astor was the first wife of his father and his mother is the former Mary Harrington Converse.

Closed Meetings in Gas Price Inquiry

later known. Secretary Glasheen of the mayor's staff admitted he was present at last night's meeting, but said he felt it was a privilege accorded him to attend and that any information as to what transpired should come from some one other than him.

At the city solicitor's office this morning a reporter for The Sun was told that Mr. Reynolds was in conference with the gas price committee of the city council. A search of the various chambers and committee rooms at city hall failed to divulge their whereabouts. It was later learned that the committee, the city solicitor, and the high officials of the gas company were in conference in offices on the second floor of the building of the Lowell Gas Light Co. Whether a meeting was formally called to order by Councilor Dickson at the gas company office could not be learned as it was said the conference was not to be disturbed. It has for a long time been customary to post on a wall calendar in the city messenger's office notification of all committee meetings, whether of the council or of other municipal bodies. This was avoided in connection with the session of the gas price committee of last night and also insofar as today's meeting with the gas company officials was concerned.

After reporters had learned of the meeting, the committee chairman, Councilor Dickson, shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon, notified the newspapers that the committee today conferred with gas company officials and after the conference decided to hold a meeting next Monday night in city hall which will be open to the press.

Many Reasons To Be Cheerful

pressed," said James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation in an address prepared for delivery today before the convention of the National Foreign Trade Council, of which he is chairman.

"As business men," he said, "we know that emotional reactions are temporary, that as a nation industry and agriculture will not for long thrive on the medicine of pessimism. There are indications that we are getting out of the mood of unjustifiable depression. It has lasted long enough and a reaction is not far off."

Speaking on "wider markets for American products," Mr. Farrell said that the success of this country in expanding production carried with it a necessity for constant and ready access to foreign markets for the sale of a steadily growing portion of American products.

"We shall meet," he added, "the competition of other trading nations that feel, as we do, the necessity of expanding their trade. For the production of goods, especially among the more active of the industrial nations, we suffer under the handicap of their lower production costs. We have proved in numerous cases our effectiveness in organization of production. No doubt we can demonstrate a similar effectiveness in organization for distribution and thus a phase of foreign trade of paramount importance.

"We seek, as always, to maintain steady occupation for all our people. That is the fundamental rule of prosperity. Competition means production and we cannot have prosperity unless we are able to sell substantially all of our production."

He pointed out that it was equally important to maintain the supply of raw materials and that in numerous instances the supply of domestic raw materials was not sufficient to supply the largest lines of industry and was absolutely dependent upon a supply from foreign sources.

"The lessening in the capacity of Europe to buy and sell," he continued, "unquestionably affects our commerce, but there is a compensating factor upon which we can base an assurance that the European market can be restored within a stated time nor that her economic interests may not eventually be in directions antagonistic to our own."

"We are not in distress from foreign trade," he said, "because Europe is not now able to continue her accustomed rate of buying and selling. As our requirements in raw materials increase while Europe's ability to produce them either diminishes or fails to keep pace with our growing demand, it is the course of ordinary prudence on our part to expand our activity in seeking such materials in other markets of supply."

"In the markets of South and Central America, there is opportunity for our trade with these countries. Some features of our trade with Latin-America are worthy of consideration. Cuba is our largest customer, with Mexico second and Argentina third. Cuba, with a population of less than three millions, buys from us at the rate of more than $40 per capita per year. Taking Cuba as an example with nearly equal population, her purchases were $20,000,000 worth of merchandise from us last year, approximately $1 per capita.

But Cuba produces sugar and tobacco which we buy in quantities. Moreover there is a huge and growing investment of American capital in Cuba. Batista has enormous resources in materials that we need but they are yet undeveloped and there is a small investment of American capital in that country. Cuba furnishes a graphic illustration of the manner in which American investment of capital abroad stimulates industry and trade at home."

True Bills Charging Murder and Riot Against Men Arrested After K. K. Fight

25 Alleged Members of Klan Charged With Carrying Deadly Weapons

JOHNSTON, Pa., June 4.—True bills, charging murder and riot, were returned by the grand jury at Ebensburg, late last night against 44 men who were arrested in connection with the fight between visiting Ku Klux Klansmen and residents of the village of Lilly, Pa., two months ago.

A number of the bills charged manslaughter and unlawful assemblage. Twenty-five alleged members of the Klan were charged with carrying concealed deadly weapons. The cases will be called for trial at Ebensburg next Monday.

EXPRESS TRAIN WRECKED --THREE LIVES LOST

WORCESTER, June 4.—The consensus of opinion of state, county and police officials and railroad inspectors, who have been investigating the wreck in this city last night, of the New York-bound Twilight express of the Boston & Albany road in which three lives were lost, is that the cause of the pony wheels of the locomotive leaving the tracks was pieces of shale rock placed on the rails probably by children too young to be mindful of possible serious consequences.

There were two distinct spots showing where flat pieces of shale had been crushed on the rail.

SEN. BROOKHART INCREASES MAJORITY

DES MOINES, Ia., June 4.—Senator Smith W. Brookhart continued to increase his majority in the primary election over his opponent Burton E. Swearer of Waverly, Ia., as reports from rural districts came in late last night. Returns from 2304 precincts of 2412 in the state gave Brookhart 191,791 and Swearer 159,121.

TO CLAIM SHARE OF $66,000,000 ESTATE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 4.—Frank Drake Harris, of 72 Fountain Street, Providence, will file a claim to a share in the $66,000,000 estate of Sir Francis Drake, from whom he says he is descended.

Harris' contention is based on the fact that either Sir Francis or his brother, John Drake, married Elizabeth Corey of Quonset, R. I., his maternal great-grandmother.

sic event. Ever since then, as Lord Derby remarked the other night, his family has been trying to win the Derby. Today it finally succeeded through Sansovino's fine performance.

Sansovino, who had been made favorite in the event, overcame a 2 to 1 odds against in the betting. Second place was captured by Vincent Astor's St. Germans, by Sycamore, out of Hamaze, at 10 to 7 against, a neck ahead of Somerville Tattersall's Hurstwood, by Gay Crusader, out of Blandish, at 20 to 1 in third place.

A field of 27 horses started. Sansovino's time was 2 minutes, 45.2-5 seconds, which is 15 1/2 seconds slower than the record. Round out Tattenham corner, Sansovino held the premier position. He kept the lead from then on and won in a canter.

The winner was ridden by Weston St. Germans by Bullock and Hurstwood by V. Smith. George Hanoghian, riding J. R. Joel's Bellanca, finished last.

Sansovino Was Favorite

EPSON DOWNS, Surrey, England, June 4.—(By the Associated Press.) The dawn of Derby Day disclosed a gray sky with a chilly wind, portending rain. Britishers, however, are fond of such downpours and thousands of them, willing to take a chance with the weather as with the horses, were at the track early with thousands of others wending their way hither by train, motor, in lorries and afoot.

The orders were about their tasks early, getting the 39 year old three-year-olds ready for the dash of a mile and a half which constitutes Great Britain's blue ribbon classic, and upon the result of which the entire nation's interest is centered. The horses were to go to the post at 4 o'clock.

The uncertainty over the possible winning was greater than ever this morning and amateur betters were warned by the sport writers not to back any horse without being prepared to lose their money. The selections of the therefore differed widely and all tied a string to their own choices.

The doubtful outcome of the race was emphasized by an overnight switch in the betting odds, the favorite, Sansovino, becoming the favorite at 2 to 1 against. H. H. Aca, Kah's Droopion, dropped from second place at 5 to 1, and Lord Wodehouse's Tom Punch being quoted third at 10 to 1.

MORE SUICIDES IN JAPAN

Four Cases in Emulation of Japanese Who Slew Himself in Protest Against U.S. Letter Found on Body of One Called Exclusion Measure a "Racial Insult"

TOKIO, June 4.—(By the Associated Press.) Provincial correspondents of the vernacular newspapers report four cases of suicide carried out in emulation of the Japanese who slew himself near the ruins of the old American embassy building May 31, in protest against American exclusion of Japanese immigrants.

In the last three cases, however, the attributed motive of anti-Americanism is unsubstantiated.

The cases are reported from Choshi, Hamamatsu, Okiawara and Toyama. In the last named case, the police said they found a letter on the body addressed to Cyrus E. Woods, retiring American ambassador. It mentioned the exclusion measure as a "racial insult" and referring to the "indomitable Japanese spirit."

The tendency of the vernacular press seems to be to interpret each of the cases, in a manner as supporting the anti-exclusion agitation now current here.

OVER HALF MILLION IN TAX COLLECTIONS

Nearly a quarter of a million dollars was collected by the city last month for real estate taxes alone, according to figures made known this forenoon by City Auditor Daniel E. Martin. In addition over $10,000 was received during the month from personal taxes and $200 from polls. In the five months ended May 31 the city has received over a half million dollars in collection of real estate taxes and over $50,000 from personal taxes. The table of collection follows:

hangar at 7:03 a. m., standard time, after having been lost in New Jersey fog banks for several hours. The ship lost her position shortly after passing over Trenton at 2 o'clock this morning. During an hour and a half of the time thereafter radio operators at the naval station were unable to communicate with her.

The naval air station was made at 6:30 a. m., standard time, and after two unsuccessful attempts at landing, Commander Zachary Landadowne found it necessary to "valve" or let out 20,000 cubic feet of helium before the craft could be brought down.

Having been forced to remain aloft until the fog lifted, the ship, already lightened by partly emptied fuel tanks, was made more buoyant by expansion of the helium as the sun rose. When the dirigible was brought down at the completion of her 22 1/2 hour trip, she had sufficient fuel on board for 21 hours.

The craft encountered three thunder storms in New York in the region of Oswego and Binghamton, with lightning playing around her on all sides. Sailing low over Niagara Falls, she was covered with spray.

A relief crew was included in the personnel of the ship, virtually every man aboard having had an opportunity to sleep. Officers at the station said they expected to make a test flight over eastern cities during the early part of next week.

(Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, said he would not hurry the indictments against Leeb and Leopold and that every available witness would be called to testify before the grand jury. Eleven witnesses went before the jury yesterday and more than a score remain to be heard.

That the defense will be made by the most brilliant attorneys in the country is considered certain by prosecutors because of the reputed $15,000,000 represented by parents of the youths.

"All the money in the world won't save these boys," declared Michael Hughes, chief of Detectives. "It's the most nearly complete case ever gotten together. Upon the information given solely by Leopold and Leeb we have unearthed too much corroborative evidence involving them to permit them to escape. I am certain they will receive the death penalty."

Samuel A. Ribbison, former corporation counsel and friend of the father of the slain boys, declared that "it'll be millions to fight millions," he said the prosecution would be forced.

Administration Calmness Fills G. O. P.'s Headquarters

THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL PUBLICITY OFFICE

JOHN T. ADAMS, CHAIRMAN, REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

BY LARRY BOARDMAN
N.E.A. Service Writer
WASHINGTON, June 4.—That well-known song, "Sweet and Low," might have been dedicated to the Republican National committee headquarters. It is so quiet and calm you can almost hear the "earnest workers" thinking.

John T. Adams, committee chairman, sits in state in an office overlooking Potomac park and the green hills of Virginia.

Every now and then he calls in Publicity Director J. Bennett Gordon; Frank P. Litschert, his secretary; John Hamlin, in charge of the College Bureau; or Joe Stearns, confidential clerk, and whispers a few orders.

Then Gordon, Litschert, Hamlin or Stearns transmits said orders in a low voice to his collaborators—and that's that.

The whole place is riotous—just like a country morgue.

Part of the answer is that a good many of the "earnest workers" have pulled out for Cleveland, to make final arrangements for their impending national convention.

The rest of the answer seems to be that the republicans are imbued with the present administration's idea that any noise is more or less undignified, and the less said the better.

But they all have the confidence complex just as strongly as the democrats. Ask who the next president will be and it's a church someone will whisper "Coolidge."

would do was to sit in the middle of the floor and say it was a hard, cold world.

"Something must have happened to make the poor fellow look so dismal," said Mister Bags. "I'll have to find out what it is and cheer him up a bit."

"How's your rheumatism, Mister Crow?" he asked cheerfully. "Better, I hope."

"Yes, it's better," said Mister Crow gloomily.

"And how's your family?"

"All right."

"Able to sit up and take a little nourishment?" said Mister Bags, laughing at his own joke.

Suddenly Mister Crow straightened up. "Nourishment?" he exclaimed.

"Nourishment?" repeated Mister Bags, something. "Mister Bags, yes, I suppose all of us could manage to eat a little nourishing food if we could get it."

"Why, Mister Crow?" cried Nancy. "Here's a whole store full of stuff to eat. You must be crazy to talk like that."

"Crazy? Well, maybe I am, and maybe I'm not, but just tell me. Do you keep corn sprouts? Now do you?"

"Certainly not," said Mister Bags. "But we keep dried corn and corn meal and canned corn and corned beef and corn sirup and corn-cob puffs and pop-corn."

"Crows don't like any of that stuff," sniffed Mister Crow. "They like corn that's planted and started to sprout. I'm yun, that's what we like! That's real nourishment for you, so it is."

"But that isn't honest," said Nick. "The farmers don't allow you to have any of the corn they plant. If you eat it when it's little, there won't be any corn stalks to grow big and have roasting ears on them."

"Too long to wait," growled Mister Crow. "Too long to wait, I just dropped in to find out if you should happen to know when Farmer Jones bought his seed corn to plant. He has his corn-crow all fixed up 'n' everything, so it must be soon."

"Why, what do you know about sowing-crows?" asked Mister Bags sharply.

"Ha! I'm a wise old bird and I know," croaked the crow. "You can't fool me. I know that those old sticks they carry aren't kums at all. I'm not afraid of them."

LT. SMITH IN COMMAND

Made Permanent Commander of Globe-Encircling Flyers

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Acting upon the personal request of Maj. Frederick L. Martin, former commander of the army around-the-world flight squadron, Maj. Gen. Patrick, chief of the army service yesterday designated Lt. Lowell H. Smith to be permanently in command of the globe-encircling flyers. Lt. Smith was placed temporarily in charge of the flight when Major Martin's machine was wrecked in Alaska, and he and his mechanic, Staff Sgt. Alva T. Harvey, were lost in the wilds of Alaska.

The plan which had been proposed by Gen. Patrick and tentatively approved by Secretary Weeks provided for sending Maj. Martin with a new plane to Europe, to rejoin the flight there and re-assume command during the trip across the Atlantic. Final decision was withheld, however, until Maj. Martin arrived in Washington.

FOR RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA BY HOLLAND

MOSCOW, June 4.—(By the Associated Press) Negotiations between Russia and Holland looking to the latter's recognition of the soviet government will be resumed in London in the near future. Maxim Litvinoff, who left for London last night plans to stop at The Hague to confer with the Dutch government concerning the terms of recognition.

and yesterday he sent the following letter to Gen. Patrick:

"I am very grateful to you for your continued confidence in me and for your telling me of your wishes to have me resume my place as commander of the world flight."

"It was discussed with you before we started, and it was agreed that if any of us had to fall out, the flight would nevertheless go on. The success of this great undertaking is the essential thing, and not the wishes or desires of any of the flyers."

"It was my misfortune to meet with an accident, and since then Lt. Smith has had to carry on. The responsibility for a perilous part of the journey has rested on him, and he has borne himself well."

MORE FLOWER FACTS

Many flowers known as annuals, with proper protection, be turned into semi-perennials by carrying them over the winter in a coldframe. Pansies, dianthus, and chrysanthemums are numbered among the plants adapted to this sort of treatment, which of necessity is restricted to the hardiest varieties.

Half-hardy plants may be placed in the open a week or two before the coming of the last frost.

Seeds of such plants may be sown about the time leaves start showing on trees which put out their foliage earliest.

Most tender plants must be started under glass in order to have a sufficiently long season to develop. They should not be taken from coldframes or hotbeds until danger from all frost is past.

GETTING READY FOR THE CAMPAIGN?

Officials in Washington, realizing a strenuous campaign is about to come, are getting fit and ready. Each has his particular way to do it. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis (left) thinks baseball the ideal way. President Coolidge (center) swings Indian clubs and Speaker of the House Gillett pulls the weights.

EAT AND—

LOSE WEIGHT

One cup clam broth, 4 tablespoons creamed spinach on toast with 1 poached egg, 4 button radishes, 5 ounces of fish in tomato sauce, 4 tablespoons beet greens, 1 cup shredded cabbage, 2 tablespoons pineapple, 2 macarons, 1 pint skimmed milk, 3 toasted bread sticks, 1 whole wheat roll, 2 crisp pieces of chicken toast.

Total calories, 1882. Protein, 231; fat, 322; carbohydrate, 529. Iron, 62 gram.

The breakfast planned for this day is a hot skimmed milk and toast breakfast. If your calorie allowance is less than 1100 it's much better to begin your day with even as light a breakfast as this than to go feedless until noon.

Fish in Tomato Sauce

Three pounds firm large fish, 2 cup vinegar, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper, 4 whole cloves, 1 teaspoon peppercorns, 1 teaspoon whole mustard seed, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt.

Choose any sort of large, firm-fleshed fish. Cut in "chunks" pieces and drop in boiling salted water. Reduce heat and let simmer until the flesh flakes away from the bone, about 10 minutes. Drain and remove bone and skin. The cloves, celery seed, mustard seed and peppercorns in a small cheesecloth bag. Add onion, pepper, sugar and spices to vinegar and bring to the boiling point. Cover and let stand without boiling for 10 minutes. Put pieces of fish in a casserole and pour over sauce with spices removed. Cover casserole and put in a hot oven for 20 minutes. Serve from casserole.

GAIN WEIGHT

Six ounces orange juice, 1 cup boiled rice with 3 steamed and chopped figs, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 cup cream, 3 slices French toast, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons maple syrup, 1 cup clam broth, 4 tablespoons creamed spinach on buttered toast with 1 poached egg, 4 button radishes, 2 peanut butter sandwiches, 6 oz. fish in tomato sauce, 2 heaping tablespoons mashed potatoes, 1 tablespoon orange butter, 1 cup shredded cabbage with 2 tablespoons cream dressing, 1 cheese omelette, 1 tablespoon pineapple, 1 cup skimmed milk, 1 whole wheat roll, 2 2-inch squares Johnny cakes, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

Total calories, 4158. Protein, 493; fat, 1501; carbohydrate, 1812. Iron, .0221 gram.

Plenty of eggs should be used for the butter of the French toast. Season the mashed potatoes with cream instead of milk and lots of butter for the gaining diet.

FEWER HOME OWNERS

Percentage in the United States is Less Than in France

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The seriousness of a situation in which the home owners of the United States are steadily decreasing and the percentage of renters is already nearly three times that of France, was emphasized here this afternoon by E. A. MacDougall of New York in an address before the co-operative section, mortgage and finance division of the National Association of Real Estate Boards now holding its seventeenth annual convention.

"If this percentage continues to increase," said Mr. MacDougall, "industrial unrest is bound to occur and government housing, as in other countries, is likely to be offered as a solution." Government interest in co-operative housing is common in France, Great Britain, Scandinavia, Holland, Germany, Hungary, Spain and Italy, according to the speaker. "There is an illustration of this tendency in America in recommendations made by the reconstruction committee recently appointed by the governor of New York. Among other things housing and city planning commissions were urged in this committee's report."

In many of the congested cities of this country where ownership of an individual home is rendered difficult because of the price of land, the co-operative ownership of apartments idea has developed phenomenally, notably in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.

In two sections of New York city co-operative apartment buildings represent a value of nearly 100 million dollars, the speaker said. There are practically enough in one section to make two solid blocks.

Jackson Heights, a "garden city" project of New York typical of desirable plans, is being developed by a number of co-operative apartment owners, 148 resident members and 87 associate members. In the six years of this New York section's operation the corporation has arranged for itself a nine hole golf course and 24 clay tennis courts, Mr. MacDougall described.

"The aim at Jackson Heights," said Mr. MacDougall, "has been to permit the use of vacant land so that every tenant-owner can enjoy his favorite pastime. Two blocks have been subdivided into garden plots where garden association members may cultivate flowers and vegetables. Playgrounds for the children are supervised by a paid instructor. There is a private school, a summer play house, a community club house and other features which provide the neighborhood features often impossible in a large city."

A resident of Chelsea, England, advertised in a local paper for a "second-hand" grave to hold two or more in some good cemetery.

She Was Weak, Thin and Nervous

How She Took On 15 Pounds—Regained Her Strength and Lost All Nervousness

The greatest strength-giver and producer of good healthy flesh is Cod Liver Oil. It's full of vitamins.

But it's nasty stuff—ill-smelling and hard to take, and usually upsets the stomach.

Thank goodness, we don't have to take it from the bottle any more, for now Green's Drug Store, A. W. Dux & Co., Fred Howard, and all druggists are selling Metcay's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, sugar-coated and as easy to take as candy, so that you can get the real Cod Liver Oil in condensed form and not just the same results as with the horrible-smelling liquid.

Men and women, weak, thin and nervous, are urged to put out weight and get back their health and strength with these wonderful tablets.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks, and that's going fast enough for anyone.

Only 60 cents for 50 tablets, and they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in thirty days—why, money back and no quibbling about it, either.

Mrs. McCormick Tells How Tanlac Corrected Troubles and Restored Health

"What Tanlac does it certainly does well, for it restored my health a year ago and I am still feeling fine." This is what Mrs. Mable McCormick, 68 Paris St., Portland, Me., devoted mother of seven lovely children, has to say for the famous treatment.

"Four years of stomach trouble had brought me down to where I barely had strength to do my housework and care for my children. The gas on my stomach made my heart skip and palpitate until it would frighten me, and my nerves were completely undone. Life was more or less a burden to me then, but after taking Tanlac it's a genuine pleasure. Tanlac just seemed to soothe and settle my stomach from the very first, and three bottles made me so healthy and happy that I go about my duties every day singing. Tanlac was a blessing to me that I can never forget."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

"The trouble lasted about a month. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Leon Hallock, 104 Atkins St., Bellows Falls, Vt.

Mrs. J. M. Craig, Mrs. W. L. Brooks, Mrs. A. Hadley, chairman of flower committee, and Mrs. C. W. Mason.

Mrs. Jessop read the minutes of the last meeting and the roll call following which the reports of the various committees for the past year were submitted, showing that at present the club numbers 116 members, 21 new members having been added during the year.

Mrs. Leggat, retiring president, in complimenting and thanking the members for their co-operation during the past year, said: "We have had a very successful year and a very fine program in the 12 or 13 years during which I have served as president. I cannot recall one as fruitful as the one now closing. I have enjoyed every moment of my work with you and it was with pleasure that I took the chair each Thursday to preside over our meetings which have been so pleasant. I am proud to say that I have been president of the Educational club. I want to thank one and all for kindnesses extended and co-operation in every one I see a friend, and after all, we are just a bunch of friends working together."

Mrs. Jessop, our president, said: "I am proud to say that I have been president of the Educational club. I want to thank one and all for kindnesses extended and co-operation in every one I see a friend, and after all, we are just a bunch of friends working together."

Mrs. W. M. Ricker, for 34 years chairman of the hospitality committee, was then presented two bouquets, one of red tulips and the other, snowballs and lilacs. Mrs. Ricker, since the institution of Tea Day in the club 30 years ago, has worked unceasingly and successfully, was also given a vote of thanks in recognition of her services.

Mrs. Caroline Crawford, chairman of the flower committee, who also resigned at yesterday's meeting, gave a rising vote of thanks for the work accomplished during her term as chairman of the committee. It was due to Mrs. Crawford's generosity that the tables were always prettily decorated every morning and it was with regret that the members saw her leave office.

Mrs. Florence D. Hadley, chairman of the nominating committee, then escorted the new president to the chair as well as the secretary, Mrs. William Cox.

In a brief address of recognition of the new president, Mrs. Jessop said:

"I am proud to say that I have been president of the Educational club. I want to thank one and all for kindnesses extended and co-operation in every one I see a friend, and after all, we are just a bunch of friends working together."

PLAN TO AID HOME BUYING PROPOSED BY REAL ESTATE SPECIALISTS

Easy Payments in Form of Rent and the Homes Paid For After Nine to 12 Years' Occupancy—Real Estate Men Favor Scheme

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, June 4.—A model loan plan for financing home buying over the country was recommended to real estate finance specialists of the United States and Canada in a report made today to the National Association of Real Estate Boards at its annual convention here. The plan was brought before the mortgage and finance division of the association by M. D. Arnold, Jr., of Knoxville, Tenn., chairman of a committee of the division which has been investigating the present tendencies with regard to housing loans, and is based on a survey of real estate dealers and lenders on real estate in 32 states.

The report said that the tendency at present throughout the United States on housing loans is decidedly toward amortized loans. The plan of long-term financing for home buying as recommended is intended to combine the maximum of convenience for the man who is entering into payments for his home with the maximum of safety for the investor and with the maximum of fairness to the dealer or contractor who may hold the second mortgage on the property.

The plan, briefly, is as follows:

1. A first mortgage loan not exceeding 50 per cent of a fair appraisal. The committee declared that "this should meet the requirements of the lender who rightfully expects a satisfactory margin of safety."
2. A loan for a period of 10 to 15 years, interest only to be paid for three to five years, with amortized payments thereafter until maturity. This, in the opinion of the committee, should meet the requirements of the owner on account of the permanency feature and should be acceptable to the dealer or contractor, as it will enable the purchaser to take care of the payment of the second mortgage note.
3. Prepayment option, in whole or in part, after three years from date of loan. This, said the committee, should "ordinarily satisfy the lender, and should appeal to the owner who is fortunate enough to be able to get rid of the second mortgage and begin amortization payments at the end of three years from date of loan."
4. Another plan built on the basis of "no money down" which spreads the builder's profits over 12 years and makes them average 25 cents a day and is meant especially to benefit home-seekers earning more than $2500, but less than $4000, was presented by C. T. Moffett of Minneapolis, Minn., as his individual opinion. He agreed this plan might sound "like the scheme of a sentimental philanthropist," but said it had proved sound and profitable business in his own case.

His plan calls for a lease of 36 months, an option for one dollar signed at closure; a form of contract to be signed on or before the 37th month to continue 105 months more as a rental of 144 months or 12 years; then delivery of deed conveying a clear, marketable title. The rate of money interest is 7 per cent. The payments, including interest, are $10.25 a month for each $1000 of sale price. The tenant must pay insurance, taxes and water rent the same as if the house had been bought for cash. Home buyers should not, he said, agree to pay more than 25 per cent of the gross family income.

"The money down payment is bad psychology," argued Mr. Moffett. "It is evident to the buyer that the broker does not believe he will pay the balance unless he is compelled by threat of foreclosure or the forfeiture of a considerable sum. The buyer will not become a walking advertisement for the broker as he will under the 12-year payment system."

People with salaries of more than $1000 should be able in three years to save up enough to buy their houses outright, he declared. He pointed out that 100 cents under this plan would yield the builder a profit of $25 a day, or enough to build one new house a month. On a house costing the home buyer $55 a month, the builder's profit would be about $7.50 a month under the Moffett plan.

CLASS CONFIRMED AT ST. JEAN BAPTIST CHURCH

Right Rev. Joseph G. Anderson, V. G., auxiliary bishop of Boston, administered the sacrament of confirmation to a class of 200 children, boys and girls, at St. Jean Baptist church this afternoon. Rev. J. B. Labrosse, Very Rev. J. E. Turcotte, O. M. I. and Rev. Emile Bolduc, O. M. I. assisted the bishop.

Mrs. Charles Lirette, president of St. Anne's sodality of the church was sponsor for the girls, while Mr. Henriette Bourgeois, president of the Holy Family society, was sponsor for the boys.

Following the conferring of the sacrament, Bishop Anderson spoke briefly to the children, reminding them of the dignity of the honor paid them today and urging them to remain always soldiers of Christ.

The ceremony was brought to a close with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, Rev. Augustine Gratton, O. M. I. officiating.

Rev. Emile Bolduc, O. M. I., was in charge of the boys while Rev. Augustine Gratton, O. M. I. directed the girls.

This morning at a mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Joseph Emery, O. M. I., assisted in communion by Rev. Fr. Bolduc and Rev. Fr. Gratton, the aspirants received communion in a body following which a short instruction was given them.

After the mass, Mr. and Mrs. J. William Eidel and solo by Mrs. Bertha Chapman Huse were most pleasing.

"Thankful for Jack" and "Because It Rained," two light comedy sketches, were much appreciated by the audience. Ballet too charming was given by little Miss Beverly Newman, in costume. Miss Ida Cross entertained with numerous readings.

Among those taking part in the evening's program were Mr. and Mrs. William Eidel, Miss Margaret Hayes, and Misses Lena Bassette, Nellie Phares, Anna Heald, Hazel Colby, Alice and Emile Battersby, Bertha Brooks, Emily Davis and Sybil Dismore.

General dancing followed the entertainment and refreshments were served.

CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

The child labor amendment for which several bills had been submitted to congress has now been passed by the necessary vote of both houses and will be formally submitted to the various states for ratification. In this part of the country the amendment has been regarded as an industrial necessity without much consideration as to its ultimate effect in giving congress or rather the federal government, control over the activities of children under 18 years of age. By some the amendment is regarded as a dangerous innovation and as conferring upon congress a power that may easily be abused in the hands of an erratic congress such as is occasionally found in control at Washington.

Senator Reed of Missouri denounced the amendment as conferring upon the federal government a power greater than any ever conferred upon any other government. While there is some ground for objection along the lines set forth in Senator Reed's speech, it is presumed that the amendment will be applied for the purposes for which it is intended, to wit, that it shall prevent the abuses of child labor such as have been found in the south and some other parts of the country, where children of tender years were dwarfed by working in factories under unhealthy conditions, or from ten to twelve hours a day. It is very plain that children so treated cannot receive the education that every American child should receive and that as a result they are deprived of the opportunities that should be open to every child, whether native or foreign born, that is reared in this country.

The textile industry of New England has been complaining for many years of the unfair competition of the south, due to the abuses of child labor. The movement for an amendment was started first in New England and then taken up by other states, and now it is made the subject of constitutional amendment. Properly speaking it should be considered only by legislatures elected after the amendment is submitted, although there is no law making that method compulsory. A proposition to place this provision in the constitution has been made frequently to congress, but with many other proposed amendments it appears to have been lost in the shuffle. It would be well, however, that this new amendment should receive the most careful consideration so that if adopted there will be no room for the charge that it was rushed through too hastily and without giving the people a proper opportunity to instruct their legislatures in reference to its ratification or rejection.

Usually an ample time limit is allowed for action by the state legislatures, but as soon as three-fourths of the states, or 36 in all, ratify the amendment, it is officially proclaimed by the secretary of state as part of the constitution. Unless the southern states which are understood to be opposed to the amendment, are joined by others to the number of 37, all told, the amendment will be ratified.

RHODE ISLAND'S DILEMMA

If Roger Williams were alive today, he might be called in to arbitrate the present chaotic situation existing in the Rhode Island legislature.

"Little Rhody" is confronted by an acute situation which seriously affects its honor and credit, and also endangers the lives of its dependents, according to the board of directors of Providence chamber of commerce, which has just appealed to the banks and trust companies of Providence and the state at large to take immediate steps to meet the emergency arising from the protracted failure of the Rhode Island general assembly to make appropriations by advancing cash to maintain the state institutions until Jan. 1, 1925.

The extreme partisan controversy in the state senate, which has deadlocked that branch and stalled practically all legislation since the opening of the session on Jan. 1 last, has called forth strong condemnation from the intelligent public of the smallest state in New England, who feel that the general assemblymen are now belittling the honor of the commonwealth.

It is apparently clear from the attitude of these alleged solons who compose the state senate, that no legislation can be expected for many days to come. Such a situation, it is agreed, must be allowed to continue, as the Providence chamber of commerce bluntly protests.

Governor William S. Flynn is plainly helpless in the matter, although the state welfare commission has appealed to him, stating that unless the legislature furnishes funds to meet its obligations, the commission must appeal to public-spirited citizens to continue to care for 5000 persons in state charity institutions. Failing in a public appeal, the welfare commission insists that all such institutions would have to be closed.

The commission has already functioned without funds since March 1, because the senate filibuster for party platform purposes has blocked the annual appropriations bill. One of the serious effects of the blackbarring of legislation is the inability of the state to secure funds to pay the retired school teachers $20000 due in the quarterly pension payment.

BUSINESS WITH CANADA

The second best foreign market for American products and manufactures today is Canada.

That country, says Thomas R. Wilson, in "Commerce Reports," has the highest per capita consumption of American goods, and is also our chief source of supplies. This fact is often overlooked by American traders, largely owing to the proximity of Canada and its accessibility for domestic salesmen. In reality, it is as much a foreign market as England, Denmark or Australia.

Our nearness to Canada with Canada for years has shown an excess of exports. In 1923, the excess was $126,000,000. During that year, Canada's exports to us totalled $410,000,000, with England and Cuba taking second and third places, respectively. This was an actual increase of more than 150 per cent as compared with 1912.

Beyond doubt the large increase in trade with the United States is due not only to the proximity of the two countries, but to the growing predominance of American capital in that market. It has just been discovered, apparently, that United States capital today owns about one-third of the mines in Canada; large portions of timber and water tracts and one-third of Canadian municipal, provincial and Dominion bonds and debentures. Americans are also taking an increasing share in many Dominion manufactures, and it must not be forgotten that there are today more than one thousand branch factories located in Canada, with headquarters in the United States.

All of which shows that this nation and the "provinces" are pretty closely allied in business relations and that the commercial intercourse thus carried on is mutually helpful.

CONDITIONS IN HAVERHILL

As a result of accepting a reduction of 20 per cent in wages, the Haverhill workers demand that the cost of living shall also come down. Still, many of the workers are opposed to the proposed investigation of rents in that city. Chairman Newdick of the Haverhill arbitration board favors the investigation, feeling that it would result in many readjustments although the board's powers are quite limited.

Mr. Newdick's campaign has been followed principally in urging landlords, merchants and others to co-operate in an effort to bring down the costs of necessities in Haverhill and thereby help to meet the wage cut in the shoe industry made necessary by general economic conditions. It appears, however, that the wage reduction has brought no improvement in the shoe business in Haverhill. Indeed, it is alleged that if the men worked without wages the manufacturers could not go ahead as they have no orders on hand. Overproduction and the lack of demand for the manufactured products are the alleged causes, but there are others. However, the cost of shoes is part of the cost of living which the people are endeavoring to reduce. The workers have contributed to the general movement and expect the co-operation of the manufacturers in pulling down the cost of living.

IGNORING LA FOLLETTE

It is pretty generally understood that the coming republican national convention will take little heed of the demands of Senator La Follette that certain progressive planks suggested by him be incorporated in the platform.

Chairman John T. Adams of the republican national committee has issued a bony statement to followers of the party faith, insisting that the coming convention will take little heed of the demands of Senator La Follette that certain progressive planks suggested by him be incorporated in the platform.

His leadership of republican party policies and future plans of the party's work performed during the past four years, does not prove very convincing considering what has been revealed recently in the case of the congressional investigation of public careers in high political life in Washington.

Adams has always been strong on discipline but not on the details of discipline. He declares and only declares that his party will not seek out high-sounding phrases in order to win support. That indeed would be a useless course in the face of an approaching political campaign that should deal only in solid facts without bombast and flourishing metaphors that entice their usefulness from

SEEN AND HEARD

A gossip in time tells nine.

A humming is always buzzing about himself.

What the world needs is autos that are afraid of pedestrians.

A Thought

Temperance sugar well becomes the wise. Philomena.

Didn't Show Up

A negro woman was telling a friend that she had been to a wedding. She described the bride's white satin gown, the veil, the flowers, the flowers and everything. "And what did the bridegroom wear?" asked the friend. "Well, you know, that good-for-nothing fellow never showed up at all."

Cautioned the Court

"Prisoner," said the magistrate, "you have already been sentenced 11 times for various crimes, including assault, embezzlement, theft, and so on. 'Would you mind not spending so much time in court?' was the reply. 'My intended father-in-law is in the court and you might damage my prospects.'"

Should Be Cured

"What's the news of the day, Hilman?" asked good old Maw Hopland. "Avalanches in the Alps are destroying property, so the paper says." "Avalanches, eh? I been hearing about 'em in the Alps. They're all right, but they're not the kind of avalanches I'm talking about. Our Comanches are quite enough."

Shrewd Guess

"I heard tell in town today," related Cap Johnson, of Lumpus Ridge, upon his return from a shopping expedition to the county seat, "that they arrested a member of the legislature yesterday. 'Good haul,' eh?" "I didn't ask, I judged, though, that it was for being a member of the legislature."—Kansas City Star.

New Breed of Bachelor

A city man was taken all over an extensively equipped and equipped farm. He saw blooded stock of many kinds and was particularly impressed by the prices that had been paid for some of these specimens. Upon pointing the guests at the incursion the city man proceeded to enlighten the farmer. "Now take that rooster, son-of-a-bitch, that rooster is worth $200. He's a genuine South-down."—Indianapolis Sunday Herald.

His Off Day

Bobby was of an inquiring turn of mind, but mother usually managed to answer his questions. "Why does daddy go to town every day?" he asked. "To work," she replied. "What do you and I can have good dinner?" mother replied promptly. Next day, as Bobby sat down to dinner, he looked dispiritedly at the fare provided, then turned an accusing eye on father. "You didn't do much to-day, did you?" he remarked. "London Answers."

Worth Trying

Vanity may be the chief quality of the peacock, as it served the purpose of helping him advertise the beauty of his plumage. It is also a human quality, expressed kindly, sometimes, through pride. Alice, age 15, an example. "Alma," she asked one day, "what's eating that bird for the complexion?" "I suppose it is, but why?" the mother responded. "Some one told me it was." In another moment the mother saw her standing before the mirror eating a peach. Indianapolis News.

Head or Heels?

A youth began his career in a local pit, and one of his first jobs was to drive a pig pen. He got along very well until he came to a place where the roof was much too low to permit the pig to pass. Consequently he took a pig and started to back away at the rear of the pen. He was quickly on the scene and noted what he was doing, the lad explained that he was making a way for the pig to pass. "That's a very dangerous thing to do," said the foreman. "You might have had the whole roof down. What you should have done was to get the pig's head in a hole."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Just His Luck

"The unluckiest individual under the sun," remarked a clerk to his newest neighbor, "What's the trouble now?" asked his friend. "I got two medical certificates from two different doctors yesterday," explained the young person. "One was a certificate of health and the other a certificate of insanity to be sent to the chief with a petition for two weeks' holiday." "O, that's nothing," rejoined his fellow clerk. "I've done that myself." "Yes," continued the other, "but I put the certificates in the wrong envelope. The health one went to the chief and the insanity one went to the chief's secretary. He said, 'What a world we live in!'"—Chicago Tribune.

The Indian Summer

When summer's radiant beauty flies, and autumn's glow with richer dyes, a little Indian Summer comes between the two, and the world is in the Indian Summer.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Lowell was represented at a patriotic service commemorating the 150th anniversary of the "Closing of the Port of Boston," held last Saturday afternoon at Fort Independence, Castle Island, South Boston. The exercises were conducted by members of the Massachusetts society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and Mr. Barton H. Wiggin of this city, president of the organization, was master of ceremonies. The graves of some of the soldiers of the ancient garrison who died at the post, were visited by the inland visitors in respectful memory. A feature of the affair was a buffet luncheon served in the open air on the large drill field within the fort, following which there was a social hour. Photographs of the notable present were taken just before the exercises. One large photograph exhibited, standing in a row in the fort interior parade ground, Mayor Walter H. B. Remington of New Bedford, Col. George B. Stebbins, commanding officer of the 32nd regiment, Organized Reserves; Col. F. G. Bauer, former judge advocate of the First Corps area, and Mr. Wiggin of this city.

The graduation season is with us. In a commencement circular sent out by the authorities of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, Amherst, Mass., I note that two Lowell boys, Herion D. Bryant and Spiros A. Polaris, were members of the two-year graduating class to receive diplomas Monday.

Harold Mehan, former clerk in the postoffice, is enjoying the balmy atmosphere of Los Angeles, Cal. In a letter to this office the other day, Mr. Mehan said he is having a fine time in the big movie city.

A word to the wise is sufficient. If you would give longevity to your automobile, avoid a tour to New Hampshire via North Chelmsford and Tinsboro. A new boulevard is being constructed there and the roads are real undesirable and inconvenient to pleasure travel. There are detours also between Lawrence and Haverhill on the state road.

Dr. Richard J. McCluskey is contemplating a trip to Europe some time this month. Besides his large practice, Dr. McCluskey right now is contributing much time to the K. of C. and drive, of which he is chairman. It was the doctor who first proposed the drive when he donated a substantial sum to start the half-rolling a short time ago. Incidentally, the drive is going along nicely.

Frank L. Maloney, Lowell's newest police sergeant, started work on the late night shift last Sunday and fitted into his new position like a veteran. Sergeant Maloney is being congratulated by his friends for his appointment. He was first on the civil service list of more than 40 eligibles. He is one of the few Lowell high graduates on the police force today, but he certainly put his education to good use when he topped the list in the sergeant examination. Sgt. Maloney is a brother Benjamin, and a sister, Mrs. Maloney, are members of the bar. And Frank has studied law himself.

It is peculiar that the only Lowell boy on the Textile school baseball team should win the Mayor Donovan prize for scoring the most runs. I refer to Ray Reynolds, the sensational little shortstop of the Red and Black boys for the past three years. During the season just closed, Ray scored 12 runs, one better than his nearest competitor. He has been one of Coach Bob Gaudy's most reliable players and a credit always to the national game. Ray's younger brother, Joe, is regular second baseman on the high school team and bids fair to follow in Ray's footsteps as a star.

Lawrence Thynne, one of Lowell's pioneer newspapermen and now Marlboro correspondent for the Worcester Telegram, was in town renewing old acquaintances yesterday. Larry dropped into the Sun building to see some of his old associates in the newspaper game. He looked the picture of health and said he was getting along nicely in Marlboro. It was his first real visit to Lowell in 16 years. He once wrote stories for the old Lowell Mail and was at one time connected with The Sun. Larry still radiates sunshine of years. From the recollection he got here he may be assured that he has many friends in Lowell.

SALVATION ARMY BAND COMING

All lovers of music will be interested to know the New England Provincial Band, based at Boston, will give two musical evenings, which plans have not been completed. It is expected they will hold their first service outside of the city hall and will use the approach as the platform, and the other concert will be held in a special building. This is not the band's first visit to Lowell as they gave a splendid concert last year when on their way to Old Orchard for the annual camp-meeting. The band consists of 15 players and will be under the leadership of Staff Captain Robert Young. Last recently the band made a tour through Connecticut and at every place of call drew crowds and to assist to their music and singing. The band also did a great deal of chorus work as they are specially talented and make up a fine male chorus. They will be accompanied on the trip by Colonel William McIntyre, who has the oversight of all Salvation Army activities in New England.

China's unused resources are said to be similar to those of the United States 100 years ago.

WOMEN'S CLUB MEETING

New Organization Holds

Whist and Bridge Party in Liberty Hall

A most enjoyable and successful whist and bridge party and incidentally the last of the more conspicuous closing events of the card season was held in Liberty hall of Memorial Auditorium last evening under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's club. The committee, headed by the direction of Mrs. Mary A. A score or more of high and junior high school girls acted as waitresses and servers during the evening.

At the conclusion of the playing the scores were tallied by Mr. Charles L. Keyes who also distributed the prizes. The following were awarded prizes in bridge: Mrs. Joseph Wall of Holyoke, Mrs. Joseph Farrell, Miss Nellie Tully, Mrs. Chester Smith, Mrs. Joseph R. Donovan, Mrs. Edward Murphy, Miss Sadie Tully, Miss Josephine Wood, Mrs. Laughlin, Mrs. Dennis Murphy.

M. R. F. Hoyt was awarded the consolation prize. The following were the winners at whist:

Miss Loretta Toppin, Mrs. Frank Brennan, Mrs. Ruth Rhodes, Mrs. M. Mack, Miss Bernadine Whelan, Mark Cassimus.

SPITHALAMIUM

I saw two clouds at morning,
Tinged by the rising sun,
And in the dawn they floated on,
And mingled into one;
I thought that morning cloud was bless'd,
It moved so sweetly to the west.

I saw two summer currents
Flow smoothly to their meeting,
And join their course, with silent force,
In peace each other greeting;
Calm was their course through banks of green,
While dimpling eddies play'd between.

Such be your gentle motion,
Till life's last pulse shall beat;
Like summer's beam, and summer's stream,
Float on, in joy, to meet
A calmer sea, where storms shall cease—
A purer sky, where all is peace.

—John G. C. Brainard.

The LITTLE OL' TUB—

Hal Cochran's
DAILY
POEM

'Tis the middle of the morning and the house is all a-bum, as the dishes and the kitchen work are dropped. From a tiny baby's nursery little walls and hollers come. It's no wonder that all other things are stopped.

Mother rushes in to get him and he gurgles loud with glee 'cause he knows that she will lift him from his bed. Soon he's yawning and stretching and he's happy as can be. Then he's snuggled in his baby cart and fed.

While the youngster drains his bottle mother fixes up his tub. It's a portion of the routine of the day. Fuzzy towels are hanging lumpy for the tot must have its rub after splashing half an hour or so away.

Now the morning bath is ready and the youngster takes its plunge and perhaps some soapuds get into its eyes. Water trickles down its shoulders from a fluffy, squeeze sponge. Now and then the tot is startled and it cries.

Years may pass but Mom remembers 'bout the tub that used to be; the tub that used to sit upon a chair. It recalls the baby's play days as a tiny tot, you see, and the memory's one of sentiment that's rare.

FIRE IN TAR KETTLE
A blazing tar kettle in Third avenue resulted in a still alarm at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At 8:23 last evening the Alken street dump broke into flames and apparatus was summoned by telephone. Another telephone alarm at 5:14 last night called firemen to the Riverside street dump where a slight fire was in progress.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatrical Own Press Agents)

ITALIO THEATRE

There may be nothing new under the sun, but Tom Mix behind his roman spectacles, wearing his latest garb from the shelf of a second-hand store, is a close approach to it. He appears in "Soft Boiled," his first nine reel picture presented by William Fox, in a role so different from any he has attempted that he surprised even himself. "Soft Boiled" opens at the Italio Thursday.
So, picture starring Tom Mix would be complete without Tony, his wonder horse in "Soft Boiled." Tony plays his usual prominent part with his usual intelligence, despite the fact that he found it more securely recognizable in many of the scenes. Expecting coarse cheap soft shirts, spurs and sombrero, Tony encounters Tom Mix in the chair, and spurs, and spurs. It may have been indignation or surprise that caused Tony to rear viciously when he glimpsed this little, white, intelligent creature that brought a hoarse horse whinny when he saw the horn rimmed goggles.
"Soft Boiled," Tom Mix plays the part of a young man named Steele, whose temper is quicker to flash than metal sparks when it comes to Tony. How he learns to control his temper first as a shoe clerk, later as a manager of a questionable road-house and eventually as a detective, is the story of the picture. It is one of the most effective pictures in which the popular actor ever appeared. Billie Dove plays opposite him and, in "Bleatone," directing the picture, secured the western cast for the prettiest girls in the dining chamber scenes.
Whatever else may be said of "Soft Boiled," it will be conceded above all that it presents Tom Mix in his most unique role with the result that the picture is a complete triumph throughout the picture.
Other attractions on the program include Round Six of H. C. Witwer's fight classic, "Fighting Blood," which also offers plenty of good comedy and action, and Our Gang Comedy, the latest chapter of "Hunted Valley," with Ruth Roland and a brand new issue of Fox News.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
The dictionary gives the definition of bashfulness as "shrinking modesty." But our definition, after viewing Harold Lloyd's latest Pathe comedy, "Girl Shy," at the Merrimack Square theatre, is that bashfulness is decidedly a subject for expansive laughter. Bashful persons have at all times inspired us with pity for them, but when Lloyd is seen as a boy scared to death of the female sex, he awakens the part of us of rarious mirth.
Lloyd is indeed one comedian whose pictures are ever a delight to see, for the reviewer and the audience never know what to expect of him in advance. After a series of clever characterizations and stories in the past, he once more shows his great versatility in "Girl Shy" by giving to the screen one of the most entirely novel types of hero it has ever had. LAKEVIEW BALLROOM OPENS FOR SEASON

The ever popular Lakeview ballroom with its spacious dancing surface and one of the most beautifully situated dance pavilions in this vicinity opened its season during the past week with an attendance eclipsing all previous similar events. "Broderick's Entertainers," a group of talented musicians, under the leadership of H. G. Dunbar, dispensed music for the dancing and will continue in this capacity throughout the season, assisted by the inimitable Barney Moran in all the latest song hits.

Nothing has been left undone by the management to fulfill every desire of its patrons. Adequate parking space for automobiles has been provided for and the readily fare to the park has been reduced to ten cents. During the season many new and novel ballroom dancing features will be introduced, and it is the intention of the management to see that its patrons receive courteous treatment at all times.
"Dance at Lakeview" is the byword of all those who desire a pleasant afternoon or evening, for with the best music, the best floor surface and scenic surroundings, it cannot be excelled. There will be dancing every afternoon and evening for the remainder of the season.

old adage that "there is nothing new in the movies" has been completely blasted at last. Lloyd definitely proves the truth of the time-worn statement.

Conspicuous in his support is pretty Jolana Kaitlen, who made such a hit with him in his last success, "Way Weary." Jolana brings to the screen a distinctive type of beauty, young, dainty and refreshing. Others in the cast are Richard Daniels and Carlton Griffin, with the direction credited to Wood Newmeyer and Sam Taylor.
"Girl Shy" will remain at the Merrimack Square theatre until Saturday, and it is one of the pictures that can be recommended heartily to those who like to "shop" for their entertainment. For it is certainly a gleaming chapter de luxe.
"Girl Shy" is entertainment for the entire family. Make up a family theatre party and spend two hours of solid enjoyment at the Merrimack Square. It is an excellent production.
The second feature of the current bill is "The Tie That Binds," a stirring dramatic production with an all-star cast. A comedy and the latest International News complete the excellent bill.

"THE COVERED WAGON"
Famous Players-Lasky is the newest comer into the field of producing pictures which have their initial runs in the regular theatres, devoted to touring dramatic attractions.
The accomplishment which prompted this great concern to make the departure is "The Covered Wagon," taken from the story of the winning of the west by Emerson Hough, which had a sensational success as a serial in the Saturday Evening Post and is now in its 14th edition of book form.
The author lived to see his greatest dream realized when this story transferred from type to the screen and became a moving reality. The success of this transformation is credited to Jesse L. Lasky, who took the initiative in the planning, and to James Cruze, the director, who had active charge of the work.

"THE COVERED WAGON"

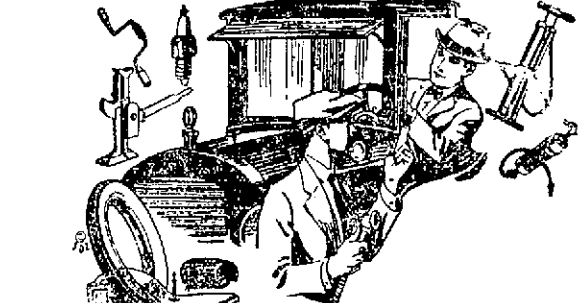

Editorial in Portland Press-Herald, Feb. 28, said—
"It is not often that a moving picture is exhibited in Portland that is worthy of being commented upon editorially. Not many pictures offer more than entertainment for a little hour, but 'The Covered Wagon,' now being exhibited here, is an exception to the rule.
"The production, based upon a story by Emerson Hough, has great educational value. It gives a most realistic and truthful portrayal of the way in which a great portion of our wonderful country was settled. There are many novels and books in which an account of this migration of thousands of hardy, brave and adventurous Americans crossed the prairies can be found, but in 'The Covered Wagon' appears the living, moving story as really close to reality as wonder and profound admiration.
"This is a picture which every boy and girl in the United States ought to see. It should be acquired by the government and exhibited in every school house in every hamlet in the country. It is more than an entertainment. It is an epic."

BACKYARD PLAYGROUNDS

Give Children a Yard Swing

BY W. C. BACHELOR
A swing is one of the most popular diversions for either a boy or a girl. We never quite outgrow the pleasurable sensation resulting from our bodies traveling through the air. It may be by means of a swing, a broad jump, a pole vault, a dive, riding in an automobile, an airplane, or a mechanical device at an amusement park. Once fear is overcome the pleasure is unending.

The first consideration, therefore, in the construction of a swing, is safety. A swing should be built by a good workman. Iron pipe is preferable for the framework, but with care a safe and substantial swing frame may be built of wood at a considerable saving. Ten feet is a good height. The seat should be 20 inches from the ground. (Approximate cost, $18.67.)

For galvanized pipe and malleable fittings, add about 25 per cent. If set 3 feet in concrete, no braces are necessary.

Chain is superior to rope for the swing. Hangers should be of roller or ball-bearing type to avoid wear. Hangers, or swivel connects with hangers, may be purchased from local sporting goods dealers. For children up to 5 or 6 years, a baby swing of the chain type is preferable.

Material for swing:
Eighteen feet of bulldog chain, No. 1-0, 90 cents.
One piece, 2 inches by 8 inches by 20 inches, 15 cents.
Two ball-bearing hangers.
(For wood frame, $4.28.)
(For pipe frame, $8.70.)

Instead of ball-bearing hangers, a blacksmith will make either of the two hangers shown in the upper left-hand corner of the diagram for about one dollar.

The steel link swing is ready-made with ball-bearing hangers. (For wood frame, $9.00; for pipe frame, $9.60.)

The chair swing is ready-made with ball-bearing hangers. (For wood frame, $7.50; for pipe frame, $8.50.)

An old automobile tire, suspended by a rope or chain, makes a very good improvised swing, and, if hung about 3 feet from the ground, also answers the purpose of a trapeze for small children.

One piece, 4 inches by 4 inches by 6 feet (cross bar).
One pound No. 20 casing nails.
(Approximate cost, $5.50.)

The joints should be mortised, bound with band iron, or braced with 2 by 4-inch cleats.

If an iron frame is desired, the following materials are needed:
Two pieces 3-inch pipe, 13 feet.
One piece 3-inch pipe, 6 feet.
Two 3-foot chains.

Billy Evans SAYS

Nothing makes an idol of a ball player quicker than the ability to hit.

Since the inception of the game, baseball has had its idols but never one who received the hero worship accorded Babe Ruth.

Ruth won a place in the spotlight because of his ability to hit the ball, his specialty being the making of home runs.

Ruth won his first popularity in Boston as a pitcher, then as a champion slugger, the home-run king of the universe.

Now he is at present paying homage to another god of war, the Boomer. Like Ruth, Boone is a big, husky fellow who hits them hard.

The style of hitting of the two power hitters differs. Ruth hits them high and far, the home-run swing. Boone hits them far, but on the line.

Boone hits for many extra bases, but they are doubles and triples rather than home runs.

It seems that Boone is to win fame as a big league batsman after no less an authority than Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants passed him up.

Last winter in conversation with Manager Lee Fohl of Boston I brought up the question of the makeup of his outfield. It was then that Fohl had heard of Boone from Detroit.

"I understand by his work last season who will play left field, but I do know that the Boone will be in right," said Fohl.

Boone had reported in the fall of the year and until injured had made a good show.

"I am positive that any fellow who can hit better than 100 is an asset to a team, as strong as the Texas league should have no trouble making the grade in the majors," was Fohl's viewpoint.

Long before the season opened Fohl had informed Boston that he was the regular right fielder.

Fohl hit of wisdom on the part of Fohl helped to make Boone. It gave him confidence and spurred him on to get into the best possible shape. Boone is 20 pounds lighter this year than ever in his career.

For the first 10 games this spring Boone justified Fohl's opinion. His hitting featured the early play of the Red Sox.

He hit a home run as a great hitter, a second Ruth.

Then came a slump and for a week or more Boone was almost helpless at the bat. He was pressing, which threw him off his stride, changed his natural swing. Fohl took him out of the lineup, sending in the veteran Collins. Boone is a fast, "upright" man of the experts.

"All the goods is a breathing spell," exclaimed Fohl. "Anxious to keep up his great start, he has been trying too hard, not hitting natural. He will be back in the game in a few days, then watch his smoke!"

Looks as if Fohl had the proper shot. After a few days' rest Fohl sent Boone back into the lineup, and his great work at the bat has been a big factor in Boston's winning streak.

RICKARD CHANGES PLAN

To Promote But One Heavy-weight Battle This Year—Firpo's Action the Cause

NEW YORK, June 4.—Tex Rickard announced today he had abandoned plans to promote two big heavy-weight battles this year, and would concentrate his efforts upon a single match between Luis Firpo and Harry Wills, or a title contest between Wills and Jack Dempsey.

The promoter had planned to make a Wills-Firpo match an elimination test for a championship bout around Labor Day, at Boyle's Thirty Acres, but has cancelled this scheme because of Firpo's unwillingness to fight before Aug. 20.

Such a date, he pointed out, would make it impossible to hold a title match early in September, between the winner and Dempsey, while he prefers not to risk chances with weather conditions and conflict with other boxing events by arranging for such a bout later than Labor day.

As a result, Rickard declared he would abandon a January match for this year, if he puts on the Wills-Firpo contest but added that he had not yet determined which to stage.

He has signed Wills for both rights and has agreements with Firpo as well as Dempsey's manager, Jack Kearns, who is in New York to close any arrangement the promoter makes.

Kearns declared today he was ready to sign with Rickard for future fights. He has signed Wills for both rights and has agreements with Firpo as well as Dempsey's manager, Jack Kearns, who is in New York to close any arrangement the promoter makes.

Only an indirect way, did the requiring president refer to the subject which is expected to be the greatest center of debate at the federation's sessions, that of world peace. She said she was going to remember that brotherhood is not a mere word, and that our fate as well as our hearts is bound up in the destiny of peoples, unlike us in blood and tradition, yet with the same longings and needs, struggling along their roads toward the same end that we seek.

SEC. WILBUR SPEAKS

Addresses Graduating Class at Naval Academy on "Real Leadership"

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 4.—Leadership not "dependent upon gold, silver or gold, but upon the personal attributes of officers," was urged today by Secretary Wilbur of the navy in his address to the graduating class at the naval academy.

"Real leadership is based upon respect for the leader," the secretary said, "and such leadership can only be achieved by possession of powers worthy of respect. Professional ability and accomplishments are the best foundation for permanent leadership but there is an altogether different basis of leadership which binds his sources in the heart rather than in the hand."

The secretary pointed out to the young officers that to them was to be committed in some part the destinies of the 56,000 enlisted men of the navy.

"Unless your rule over them be tempered by firmness, justice, sympathy and courtesy," he said, "their services in many cases may be lost to the navy. Remember, especially that success or failure with respect to the expense of a subordinate, especially if he is an enlisted man and thus incapable of retaliation, is unmanly and fatal to one's standing as an officer."

Dr. Herbert Sill, A.B., Columbia, '95, founder and headmaster of Kent School, Kent, Conn.

Acting as university orator, Prof. Edwin R. A. Seligman, in presenting the honorary degrees, stressed the value of imagination and enthusiasm as the essential ingredients of success and paid tribute to the recipients of the honorary titles for their "loyalty to the conspicuous ends of social order and human progress."

President Nicholas Murray Butler discussed character building in his commencement address, laying emphasis on "freedom of choice" as the most needed element in the development of a good character. Dr. Butler attacked the growing tendency to shift the responsibility for character building from the individual to the community, a movement which would compel mediocrity at the expense of excellence. Real freedom, he said, was the happy medium "between tyranny on one hand and license on the other."

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Omar Bessette of Ithaca, N. Y., and Miss Alice Lillian Bessette, of this city, were married this morning at 8 o'clock at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. John's church by the Rev. Father John J. LaPointe, O.M.I. They were attended by Mr. Gene Bessette, father of the bridegroom, and Mr. Alfred Bessette, brother of the bride. The bride wore an attractive traveling suit and carried a shower bouquet of roses. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 10 Mt. Hope street, and after a reception Mr. and Mrs. Bessette left for a wedding trip to New York. They will live in Ithaca, where Mr. Bessette is well established in business.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 4.—Stock prices strengthened materially at the opening of today's market with a wide variety of leading issues advancing half to one point in active trading. Buying was stimulated by the senate's vote to adjourn congress this week and defeat of the McNary-Jaeger farm bill by the house. International Paper and American Water Works established new high levels for the year.

Further improvement in prices took place within the first half hour as active short covering was induced by the view that the latest Washington developments would stimulate business. Several additional new high records were established. Foreign railroads figuring conspicuously in the advance on the ground that danger of unfavorable legislation this summer had been removed. Buying also was extended to more ordinary issues. American Water Works continued its sensational rise, jumping six points to 71 on unfavorable reports of new acquisitions but profit taking later forced it back to 66 1/2. Gains of a point or so were registered by Delaware and Hudson, Lehigh Valley, Southern Railway, Missouri Pacific, preferred, and many leading industrial and specialties. Union Pacific advanced 2 points to 13 1/2. American Tobacco 2 1/2 and Virginia Railway and Power 2. Foreign exchanges opened easier.

The continued buoyancy of the rails shared the buying interest. The condition of a selective character. One of the chief benefits of the adjustment of any railroad holding company is the blocking of any additional legislation affecting the carriers. Coal and low-priced stocks, particularly those of the southern and southwestern roads, continued to attract attention. Southern Railway advanced 2 points to 13 1/2, the year's highest level, at 57 1/2, and gains of 1 to 2 points, were scored by a dozen or more other rails. United States Steel, however, and American Can failed to extend their gains. But American Water Works slipped back to 70. Earnings of this company in the first quarter of the year, it was reported, would cover the full year's dividend requirements of 7 per cent preferred stock. Liquidation of American Sumatra Tobacco drove the stock down two points and the preference down to new 1923 low prices. Call money opened at 3 per cent.

Speculation became more of a two-sided affair in the afternoon. Oil stocks advanced and profit-taking sales made inroads on the gains of E. S. Steel, P. S. East Iron Pipe, International Paper and Famous Players. Railroads held well with Atchafalpa and smartly. Railway and American Can also stiffened materially.

The closing was irregular. Emergent selling of the oil shares, based on reports of additional price cuts, depressed the market and caused a 2 points in the final hour. Various specialties also were heavy. Including E. S. Steel Iron Pipe, Davidson, Colorado Fuel and Stewart Warner.

CALL FOR LEGAL ADVICE ON VETERANS' PAY

The budget and auditing commission this noon brought the office of the city solicitor into the veterans' payroll bureau as was anticipated yesterday. When the board met today the payroll of the board of health was considered. This called for a full week's pay for each of the seven veterans who paraded Memorial day with veteran organizations paying homage to their dead. The payroll for the street department, approved by Chairman Dennis J. Murphy, docks the men of the ashes and waste department who collected refuse and the city's part for annual tribute to those who have gone beyond.

The commission decided to ask the city solicitor for an opinion as to the legality of the distinct attitudes of the two departments. As the city solicitor was engaged in a company conference, the city clerk, Mrs. Mary McElroy, and the city auditor, Mr. J. J. Reynolds, the city clerk, had told them that the men who did not work could not be paid. He drew the distinction, they said, between a salaried member such as the city clerk, who collects the votes, and a wage earner such as the men in the ashes and waste department.

PHILADELPHIA WOMEN GOLFERS WIN

NEWTON, June 4.—Philadelphia defeated New York, eight matches to seven, in the first of the inter-city contests by women golfers for the "Griscom" cup on the Green Brook Course, N. Y., today. The New York team, starting with the expectation of an overwhelming defeat, surprised itself by taking six of the first ten matches played and the event was not decided until the last pair arrived home.

Boston will play New York tomorrow. Philadelphia's team will meet Philadelphia on Friday. New York won the cup last year.

WEISSMULLER BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

INDIANAPOLIS, June 4.—Johnny Weissmuller, Chicago, practicing for the Olympic finals here, unofficially broke the world's record for 100 yard freestyle swim yesterday. His time was 59.15 seconds, one-fifth of a second better than the mark established by Duke Kahanamoku, in the Olympic games in 1920.

Olympic swimming officials announced that because of the large number of entries in the 100 yard freestyle swim, elimination time trials will be held this afternoon. The eight swimmers making the best time in the trials will meet in the finals tomorrow. Thirty men have entered.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 10

Suddenly Jack heard a horn blow forth. And immediately the parade of elephants started. Boscoe led the way, swinging his great ears back and forth and wobbling his trunk up and down. Jack had to hang on to the sides of the seat he was in, as he could. And, hanging on to the tail of the clown's coat into the great main tent the parade went. As soon as Jack and Flip and Boscoe appeared a great cheering went up. All youngsters like elephants and a treat was in store for them. Boscoe went to the main ring of the tent. Then Jack was helped down and the seat was taken from Boscoe's back.

By this time, Jack noticed that Flip was missing. He started looking around for his dog when he saw a clown running as fast as he could. And, hanging on to the tail of the clown's coat was Flip. Everybody was laughing and Jack joined in. Flip was getting to be a real circus dog.

Amusement Notes

being given in New York for over 50 weeks, and Chicago, Boston and Los Angeles, where it had phenomenal runs, is booked for an engagement at the B. F. Keith theatre starting June 9, when it will be given with every attention to detail which has marked its earlier success down to the selected Symphony orchestra, which plays the marvelous score that Hugo Richerford has devised as the emotional messenger of the production.

"The Covered Wagon" is a story of love and adventure which develops in the wagon train led by Captain Wingate and Young Will Banion that converged at Westport Landing, now Kansas City, Mo., in 1847, and started out over the Oregon trail 2000 miles ahead to found a new colony on the western coast. Interwoven into the love tale of Banion and pretty Mollie Wingate, the daughter of the hardy old pioneer, with its appealing scenes of American life, is the life of a brave pioneer woman who made history and founded a new empire.

A college professor is credited with saying: "What can we do when the daughters of the so-called rich come out in scantily attired clothing, but abundantly in paint, with a bottle of liquor, not on the hip, but in the handbag, and a number of 'bushy' as possible in order to attract enough to be talked about; call for frequent commissions to give them time and opportunity to quench their thirst from a bottle, and with the man or their choice engaged in violent petting parties in the luxurious retreat of a big house, the daughters of the 'bushy' for the last time today at the Strand. Patsy Ruth Miller, Edna Murphy, Zazu Pitts and others are in the cast. Then see 'Bertha', the famous picture, which opens tomorrow. Those who have seen this star in the past remember her exquisite acting, but nothing that she has ever done is so beautiful as her performance in 'Bertha'. You will readily agree with this claim when you see her. Olive Brooks, as the man in the case, is decidedly above the ordinary. The picture is an excellent one.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
The days of minstrelsy are back with us again, during the engagement of Van Arman's Superior Minstrelsy at the B. F. Keith theatre. In every particular are the old time minstrel performances duplicated. Dancers, singers, comedians are all there, and there is the intangible touch of the large face. Quite a number of the large company are especially well trained for their work. Olyn Landick, the female impersonator, is really one of the best ever seen here, while the dancing by Kiefer & Scott is decidedly above the general average. There are 25 persons with that speeded up to the limit. There is no wait, no holdup to it. In addition Jack Pickford in "The Little Girl" scores a hit. The picture is exceptional. Its types are carefully selected.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL COMMITTEE REPORTS TO COUNCIL

Investigators' Report Favorable to Administration—
Mayor's Charges Repudiated—Proponents of Lowell
Lawrence Bus Line Plan Given Leave to Withdraw

The city council held another mid-night session last night, disposing of the petition of the New England Motor Bus Co., proponents of the Lowell-Lawrence bus line plan, leave to withdraw and referring to the committee on ordinances the similar petition of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. for a bus line from this city to Boston.

The report of the special committee which investigated the isolation hospital was read and accepted. All five members concurred in the findings and recommendations. The report was virtually a clean bill for the administration of the hospital and a repudiation of the charges brought by the mayor which caused the investigation.

The order calling for the transfer of $125.10 from the Morey playground appropriation to the Washington and Highland park funds was recommended to the park department, whence it emanated. The order to extend the Oakland main sewer as proposed by a plan submitted by the city engineer, was passed unanimously under suspension of the rules.

The order appropriating $75,000 for improving the fire department by acquisition of additional apparatus and equipment, passed final reading. The council conferred with Chief Saunders regarding the advisability of securing pumping engines of greater capacity for the downtown districts and voted to advise that he concur as closely as possible with the recommendations of the national and the New England boards of fire underwriters.

It was voted to authorize the inspector of buildings to rent the old Billings street school, at present unused by the city, to Rev. J. A. L. Hossier of St. Louis parish, for school purposes. The council agreed to meet with the school committee in convention tomorrow night, in the council chamber, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of electing a successor on the school committee to the late Franklin E. Johnson.

Parks and Playgrounds

Clarence M. Wood, chairman of the board of park commissioners, attended last night's meeting at the request of the council, made a week ago. Mr. Wood stated briefly that the park commissioners have purchased all of the land they intend to purchase in connection with the extension of the Morey playground, that there is an unexpended balance and that the board felt the money above what is desired to put the land acquired for the Morey playground in the desired condition should be spent on the Highland and Washington parks.

Mr. Wood was accompanied by City Solicitor Patrick J. Reynolds and Superintendent of Parks John W. Kernan. Mr. Daly said he objected to money being used for another purpose and asked if the department could not pay their Washington and Highland park claims from the maintenance fund. Informing this was not thought feasible he recommended that the park board ask the council to appropriate the desired $125.10 from the prior revenue fund.

Mr. Starnes' motion for the passage of the order, seconded by Messrs. McPadden and Tenney, was withdrawn at the request of Messrs. Lambert and Daly. E. W. David was granted the floor and briefly reviewed the situation. Mr. Wood objected to the council turning the meeting into an undisciplined public hearing. Messrs. Lambert, Daly and Chadwick insisted that David be heard and the council agreed.

In his brief talk Mr. David charged that the park department has broken faith with the people of the Highlands and that playground facilities at the school, while increased by the addition of one lot of land, have been decreased by the erection of three portable schoolhouses on a part of the playground area. Mr. Wood said the department has arranged with Worcester dealers to buy three more lots from him.

Fire Fighting Apparatus

Chief Saunders followed Mr. Wood and Councilman Lambert asked why the fire department does not change its present policy of buying all 600-gallon-per-minute pumping engines and buy a few engines of greater capacity for the downtown districts. The chief replied that he is living up to the recommendations of the board of fire underwriters. Mr. Lambert asked why the chief would not buy one pump, the latest and best purchasable for the downtown district.

"Give me the money and I'll get it," replied the chief.

Mr. Lambert asked why he did not buy one from the $75,000 appropriation and in reply was told it has already been determined how this money will be expended. The chief said the fire underwriters' factor standardized pumps and added he personally considers them the most efficient pump made from a standpoint of performance and reliability.

Mr. Lambert brought to the attention of the chief and the city council a recently promulgated order of Engineer Safford of the Locks and Canals company. Under this order, at any time when the canals are not full, men working in them will leave their places whenever the second alarm is sounded for a fire in the canal-served districts. Upon a third alarm the water will be turned on in all cases.

Six remonstrances appeared and a remonstrance notice containing many more names was read at the public hearing on the petition of E. W. David Barrett for permission to erect a public garage at 14-16 Bellevue street. Residents of the neighborhood stated their objection to any garage of more than two-car capacity being erected in the neighborhood, claiming property depreciation would result. The matter was referred to Councilman Dickson of Ward Three, for investigation and recommendation.

Leave to Withdraw

The petition of the New England Motor Bus Co. was brought up by Councilman Sadlier, who moved for a vote. Mr. Daly moved to amend by referring the matter to the committee on ordinances, but President Gallagher ruled the amendment out of order. Councilmen Daly, McPadden, Starnes, Cogrove and Dickson voted against bringing the matter up, nine councilors voting with Mr. Sadlier. On motion of Mr. Sadlier, leave to withdraw was given by voice vote.

Fred A. Cummings, attorney and assistant to the chairman of the public trustees of the trolley system, spoke for the petitioners in the matter of the application of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. for permission to operate a line of busses from Lowell to Boston. Charles Stickney was the only remonstrant.

Mr. Cummings said the company intends to use three busses, to run under 15 minutes headway, to allow an hour and 15 minutes as the running time from point to point, to use specially constructed busses, permit no standees, employ only members of the street car company's organization, and to commence the first week in July if practicable.

The council adjourned until next Tuesday night, the motion to adjourn meeting action at a few minutes after midnight. Seven of the 15 members of the council present at the start of the meeting had already gone home. The public safety committee met in executive session prior to the meeting. City Solicitor Reynolds requesting an audience.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT ANNUAL MEETING

The final meeting of the Lowell Congregational church for the present season was held last night at the parish house of the Elliot Union church, with the largest attendance noted at any meeting during the past two years. At a business meeting held directly after a splendid supper served by the church women, officers were elected for the year as follows: President, John H. Preston; vice president, Rev. Arthur C. McMillen; and secretary-treasurer, Louis Alexander. Mr. Preston succeeds Rev. William B. Tuttle, D.D.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. Harold E. Brierley of Southbury, England, at present supplying the pulpit of Central church, Newtonville. His subject was "Humor in Public and Private." He declared it to be his purpose to discover if possible why Englishmen and Americans cannot laugh at the same things and to refute the deep-seated American conviction that the English have no humor. Before he had arrived at his lecture he discovered several points of contact between English and American humor and he filled his talk with enjoyable anecdotes of both public and private.

Base balls by Thomas Parkinson of the Elliot church quartet materially assisted in the pleasure of the evening.

LOWELL LITERARY CLUB OUTING
The annual outing of the Lowell Literary club will be held at the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro, on Saturday, June 7, according to notices sent out by Arthur T. Bedford, club treasurer and outing director. The outing is in the nature of a reunion and will be attended by former as well as present members. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock to be followed by sports, principally baseball.

Judge Pickman Hears Evidence in Case of Man Killed by Electric Car

Judge John J. Pickman presided at an inquest hearing in the court of second sessions this morning concerning the death of Louis F. Desjardins, who was almost instantly killed when struck by an electric car on the Lowell-Lawrence line on May 21. The defendants in the case are Armand Dubouche, driver of the trolley which struck Desjardins, and his father, John J. Dubouche, who was taken before Judge Pickman at the hearing. Search warrants for the defendant's homes were taken out and investigation resulted in the recovery of the stolen property, the silks in the Dubouche woman's apartment being valued at $100.75, and that recovered in the Dubouche woman's house, at $79.40.

Defendants in Liquor Case Dismissed sufficient evidence of traffic, although he admitted that the question of collusion also had some influence upon his findings, and after the session went into a lengthy conference with the Boston police department men and Federal officer Walter Bowser, who also had some connection with the cases.

The evidence in both cases as given by the Haverhill officers was to the effect that Federal Officer Bowser was asked to accompany them on the two raids and was not called in to either dwelling until after stills had been found. It was upon the suggestion of Officer Bowser, they said, that the paraphernalia found was taken to the Haverhill police headquarters.

Groton Road Cases
Mrs. Edwina Caron, Groton road, Dunstable, charged with illegal sale was continued to June 7 and Daniel A. Connell, also of Groton road, Tyngsboro, charged with the illegal possession of cider of alcoholic content, was continued until June 20.

The two defendants live on farms not far distant from the scene of the double axe murder of several weeks ago and raids were conducted by Federal Agent Sullivan on information received by him that woodchoppers in the vicinity were being sold liquor at nearby farms.

Continuances were granted in the cases of Patrick J. Ryan of Lawrence and David Pyne of Lowell.

Two Women Fined $50 Each for Larceny of Silk—Other Cases

Della Goudreau, of Joliet avenue, and Valida Theriault of Perkins st., were fined $50 each in district court this morning when they were adjudged guilty of the larceny of silk cloth from the A. G. Pollard Co. They were arrested by Officer James Brown yesterday afternoon during a sale in the big department store, and when taken before Judge Pickman at the hearing, they admitted their guilt. Search warrants for the defendant's homes were taken out and investigation resulted in the recovery of the stolen property, the silks in the Theriault woman's apartment being valued at $100.75, and that recovered in the Goudreau woman's house, at $79.40.

INVESTIGATION OF COOK

Committee Recommends That Order Concerning Auditor Be Not Adopted

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, June 4.—The formal report of the joint committee on rules of the legislature, recommending that the general court should not adopt the order calling for an investigation of the official conduct of State Auditor Alonzo B. Cook, was filed in the house today.

Complete exoneration is given the state auditor in the report of a sub-committee, appointed to make a careful study on the allegations, which report the committee incorporates in its report.

Members of the sub-committee who made the investigation were Senator John M. Gibbs of Waltham, Rep. Victor F. Jewett of Lowell, and Rep. David B. Keniston of Boston.

The order, which the committee reports should not be adopted, was offered in the house Feb. 19, by Rep. Roland D. Sawyer of Ware. It called for the appointment of a special legislative committee to investigate the charges and allegations against Alonzo B. Cook, state auditor, who had been guilty of improper or irregular acts, or other misconduct or maladministration of his office, or that he has in any way violated his oath of office, or conducted the affairs of his office in such manner as to seek to evade the spirit and letter of the legal regulations of his office, or to do injustice to certain citizens of the commonwealth, or that he has in any manner been guilty of official conduct that would bring himself as an officer of the commonwealth into disrepute and merit the reprimand, correction or condemnation of the general court or the removal by it from office.

Hearings were given by the rules committee, at which Rep. Sawyer, Major General Clarence R. Edwards, and others, charged that Cook had refused to appoint certain war veterans to positions in his office, and that he had been notoriously an absentee at meetings of the board of appeal from decisions of the tax commissioner, of which he is a member.

As a result of the allegations then made, the sub-committee named above was appointed to ascertain the facts.

FIREMEN'S DECORATION DAY OBSERVANCE

Members of the local fire department will observe Decoration day, which falls annually on the second Sunday of June, by decorating the graves of the firemen dead with standards and floral bouquets. Arrangements for the observance have been completed and decorations named from the various firehouses to place the decorations on the graves.

During the past year six firemen and retired firemen died. Three of the deaths, an unusually large number, resulted from accidents while fighting fires or while responding to alarms.

Edward P. Cunningham was fatally injured when the wall of Associated Builders' Association building collapsed. Fireman Ramonald C. Bissell died of injuries received when his engine struck an electric high pole, and Fireman William H. Foss died of injuries received when he fell from the roof of a shed in Taylor street. The others who died during the past year were Capt. Frank Hoyt, Capt. James F. McKissock (retired), and T. J. Devine (retired).

TWO ARRESTED HERE ON OPIUM CHARGE

Mark Dip and Sing Park, two men arrested in a Kirk street house last night by Sgt. Winn and Officers Moore and Conney, were arraigned in district court this morning. Dip charged with having opium in his possession, and Park, charged with possession, present where opium was found. Both pleaded not guilty and were continued in $500 each until Friday.

GREAT CONGESTION WITH CONGRESS SET TO ADJOURN SATURDAY

Senate Adopts House Resolution Fixing 7 P. M. Saturday for Final Adjournment—Both Branches Suffer From Acute Legislative Congestion

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Congress, with adjournment set for 7 p. m. Saturday, suffered today from acute legislative congestion.

The senate side was the more affected of the two, one group, headed by Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, being determined to get a vote on the Muscle Shoals question and another led by Senator La Follette, republican, insurgent, being on record as opposing any action not designed for the relief of agriculture.

The house was not within its troubles, but it appeared to be in a much easier situation than the senate. Its chief task centered about farm relief and the reclamation bill reported yesterday by the irrigation committee and embodying recommendations made by the interior department's fact-finding commission.

While farm bloc members speeded up preparations of a compromise measure to take the place of the McNary-Hoegen bill, which was eliminated yesterday, supporters of the reclamation plan moved for its quick disposal through suspension of the rules in both chambers to permit action on it as an amendment to the pending deficiency bill providing funds for operation of the loans law. This program, which would bar amendments, limit debate to 10 minutes and said to have the approval of the leaders of both parties.

Big Yacht Fantasma, Which Had Engaged in Gun Battle Sunday, Found Anchored and Abandoned 16 Miles Off Block Island—Bears Marks of Battle

NEW BEDFORD, June 4.—The big yacht Fantasma, which was engaged in a battle with two small marine patrol boats operated by custom forces out of New London Sunday was found, anchored and abandoned 16 miles off Block Island by the coast guard cutter Aqueduct at 4 p. m. yesterday. She was taken in tow by Capt. William H. Sizer and reached this port this morning. The Fantasma bore many marks of battle. The pilot house was dented in a number of places, apparently by revolver bullets, partitions were shattered and a life preserver box on top of the house was riddled with bullet holes.

Examination proved that there was very little oil in the tanks and the boilers were dry of water. The engine is 111 feet long by 18 feet beam and equipped with powerful Westinghouse oil burning turbine engines. She is built along the lines of the American sub-chasers but in the belief of Captain Shea is nearer the size of the English chasers. Painted beneath her name on the stern is the name "Preston." She is not recorded in the American shipping registry. The yacht was in filthy condition and in the crew's quarter forward and aft bunks had been ripped out, providing storage space. There was no liquor aboard. While the starboard portholes in the pilot house were shattered, no bullet marks were found inside the house, leading to the belief that either the bullet passed through the house and out the opposite port, or struck the man at the wheel who would have been in a direct line. There were no blood stains on the floor.

The city council last night authorized and the mayor this morning approved the payment of a $500 annuity to the widow of the late William F. Foss, a fireman who died from injuries sustained in the performance of duty.

When the raid was made, a large quantity of opium and smoking implements was found. Police estimate the value of the goods seized at more than $500.

Mark Dip and Sing Park, two men arrested in a Kirk street house last night by Sgt. Winn and Officers Moore and Conney, were arraigned in district court this morning. Dip charged with having opium in his possession, and Park, charged with possession, present where opium was found. Both pleaded not guilty and were continued in $500 each until Friday.

The arrests took place as the result of a detailed investigation by the above named officers. A suspect was trailed to the house last night and terday by the irrigation committee and embodying recommendations made by the interior department's fact-finding commission.

While farm bloc members speeded up preparations of a compromise measure to take the place of the McNary-Hoegen bill, which was eliminated yesterday, supporters of the reclamation plan moved for its quick disposal through suspension of the rules in both chambers to permit action on it as an amendment to the pending deficiency bill providing funds for operation of the loans law. The yellow evening gown which Miss Cole wore when she left the party was torn to shreds, when they were found by John Duffy, chief inspector of the Newark water department. Her stockings were torn off and her legs badly scratched.

Both Miss Cole and Mr. Carter decided that they had engaged in a publicity stunt.

"It was just my foolishness," said Miss Cole.

MISS GRACE W. BURNS HONORED BY FRIENDS

A very delightful miscellaneous shower was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Alfred A. Burns, at 141 Pleasant street, in honor of Miss Grace W. Burns. Miss Burns was presented numerous gifts by over fifty of her friends who gathered to honor her. The house was prettily decorated in pink and white and Miss Burns opened her gifts under a huge wadding ball which was filled with roses.

A most enjoyable program was given which included songs by Mrs. Alice Tracy Delmore, Miss Rose McCarthy, Miss Margaret Catter, Miss Josephine O'Brien, Miss Mae Bradley and Mrs. Richard Foley. Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Andrew Curran, Miss Elizabeth Stauchinsky and Miss Mary Burns. Miss Burns is soon to become the bride of Mr. John J. Stauchinsky, a well known local letter carrier.
